What!! We dare to give Northglenn High a generic yearbook? Yes, but a generic yearbook is not your common yearbook. The cover might reflect the times of inflation, recession, conservatism ... but the inside quality is Norse quality ... because a generic Norseman is not your common man but

A Man ... For All Seasons

Busing to Estes Park began SPEAK's annual retreat. Looking quite confident is Cross Country team member Tom Satkowski. Sunny smiles from Rhonda Foster, Lisa Anderson, and Marle Baumgart end another eventful day at NGHS. Football jerseys lend status to Kenny Mallinson, Steve Tiltus, and Scott Unger. What Is A Generic Norse?

We are the Generic Norse. We have been altered by our family life, grades, moods, and by growing up. In addition, we have the generic status, which is achieved only by attending Northglenn High School in the 1980-81 year. Our pride and spirit are endless, just as our energy never runs out. We have the generic edge over all of our opponents in academics, organizations, and competitions of all kinds. We rank as the pinnacle, the epitome, el primo, number one — After all, we are the Generic Norse.

The sign donated by the class of 1978 hides Norse Chris Johnston and Carrie Troxel. A Norse Pom, Rhonda Foster, stands proudly under the stadium lights. The state band trophy is held proudly by the band's assistant director Mr. White, as members Kevin Williams, Steve Hoyt, and Holli Arnett look on. "Bunny" (Steph McCarter) and friends (Mr. Harding, Bob Engstrom, and Mr. Gimpleson) cavort during the Halloween assembly costume contest sponsored by SPEAK. Added to the gym wall are the first marks placed since 1975: 1979 Girls Cross Country and 1980 Girls Soccer! Dressed to kill in the Norse spirit are Juniors Jeff Hampton, Bron Hilliard, and Robert Smith. Thornton's defeat in football illustrates true Norse power and spirit.

Is there life after 3?

Yes! In fact, some actually enjoyed it! At Northglenn, many firing hours were spent on extracurricular activities, but there was a certain atmosphere of pride in the air when the long hours of sacrifice resulted in words of praise for achievement. Many students made the most of their years at Northglenn, which in turn made their lives easier. The Generic Norse were aware of the high cost of living, but did not allow the inflated prices to deflate their spirits.

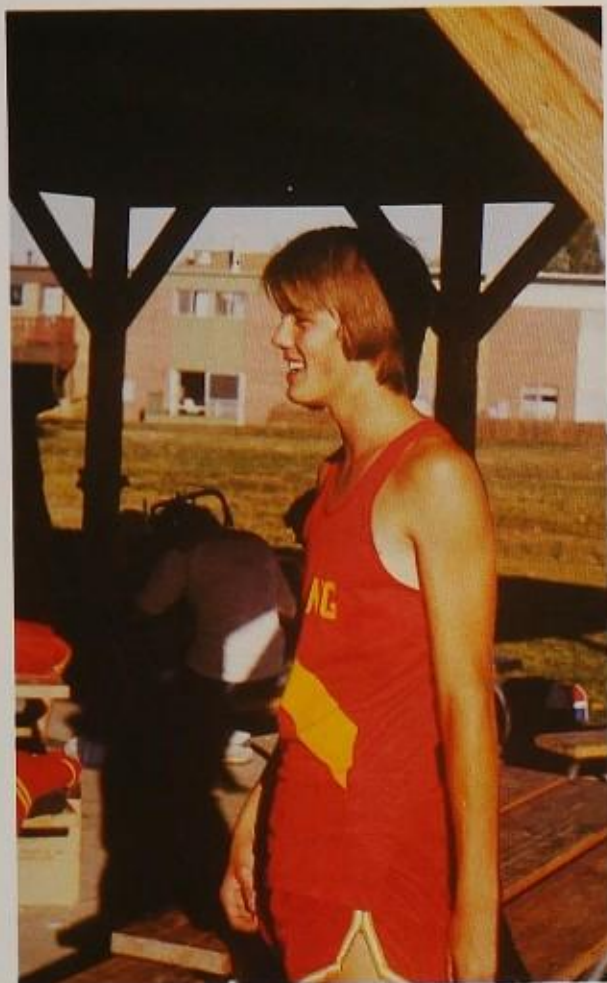

Love means nothing to tennis player Mont Williams as he exhibits a good forehand. Tying up for a CC race is team captain Ed Beckerle. Rifles and color guards stand at pointed attention. A happy hug for Queen Terri Egging proves the vote was a popular choice. The finish line usually saw Deahn Hendrixson coming in first. The bleachers are always half filled an hour before game time. Track times are kept by Coach Kitty Fowler for students Lisa Lehman and Sheryl Cockrell. "Here's the towels," says dance club advisor Barb Gifford as Donna Snyder and Mary Hollander work to raise funds for their dance review.

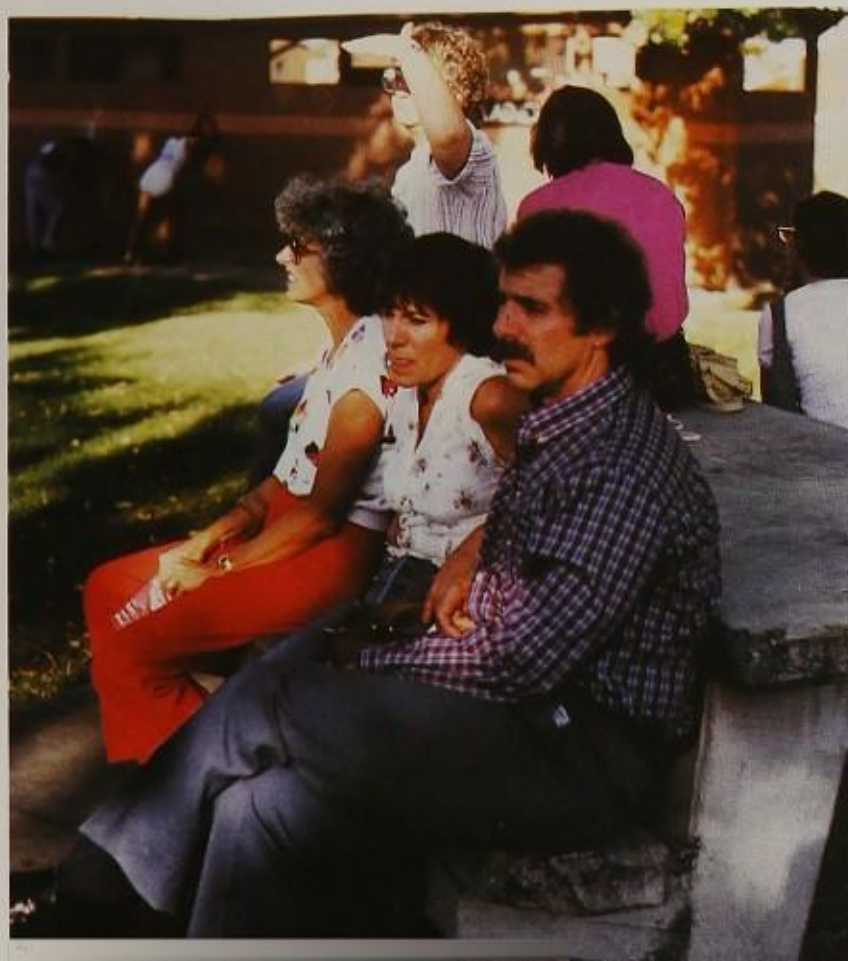

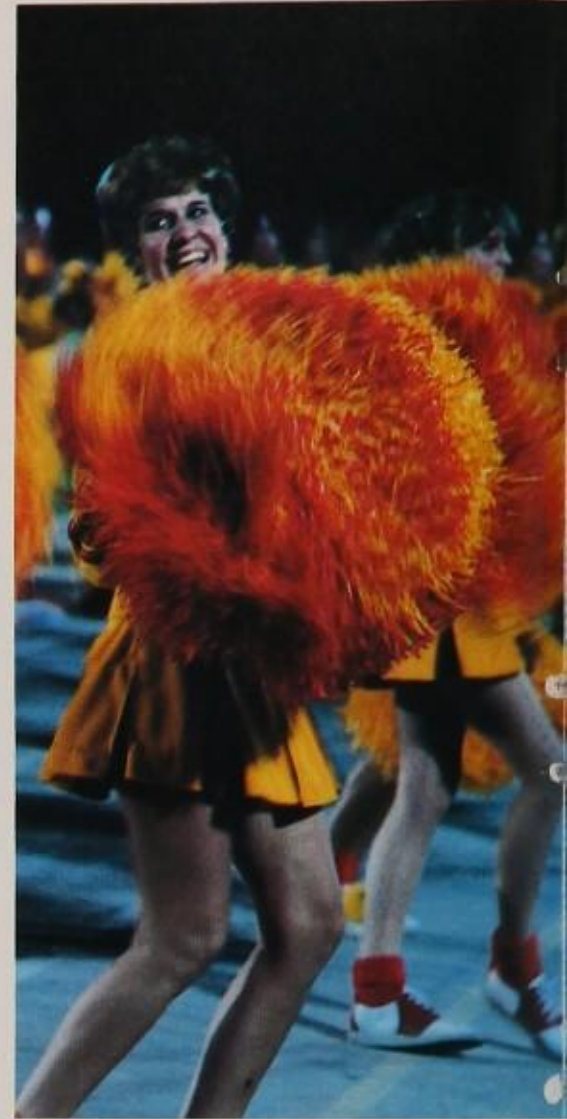

They're found in every corner . . .

The Northglenn Norsemen were found in every nook and cranny, not only of the school but on the field of competition as well. Generically speaking, the Norse spirit was always found wherever Norsemen went.

Hats and smiles always seem to be in fashion for Jan Valaskovic. The breezeway stairs provide easy access not only to an assembly, but also to the student parking lot (just in case one wants to cut!) Cross Country provides a means of absorbing Northglenn life for exchange student Oliver Maurer of Germany. Real pillars of strength (as are all Norsemen!) are Mick Skiles, and Russ Newcomb. Quiet study in the commons is almost impossible, but Dawn Delohory appears to be doing just that! Library work is common for every Norse, including Joe Lachermeler, Lori Priske, Sandy Hale, and Stacie Nordeen. Football again proved that the generic Norsemen are always a threat in the Skyline League. Parents and administrators (Mr. and Mrs. Caricato are both) are found at the CC meet. A picnic table in the smoking area is THE place to socialize.

Generic Norse . . . Superior!

Expectations were raised, and the generic Norse, being better than average, rose to the occasion. Bringing home league championships, academic achievements, and tournament trophies all pointed to one fact: generic is generic, but generic Norsemen are Number One!

A bench provides for flag Holly Foster. A serious stare shows pressure on Head Pom Maria McCracken. Whirling Poms take Lisa Anderson's energy. "Horsing around" is Junior Perl Grover. Glowing Aspen warm a Fall Homecoming. The catwalk helps Dave Ralph and Tina Alver avoid the cold. Christy Jumper, Mishi Rayben, and Bob Troutman relax. A Silver Mustang brings Diane Martinez, Linda Paul, and Cheryl Belsner to school. Reactions to the blackout are shown by Gloria Fisher, Jerry Wheeler, Steph McCarter, and Deahn Hendrixson. Just a skull is left of Stacey Johnson after Expos. Big Smiles for Gregg Bessette and Miltz Sowers! Gathering in the new Smoking area . . .

Monster Brian Rafferty welcomes all to Campus Life's "Scream in the Dark." Bumming the hallways during Halloween Dress-up Days is Scott Dulken. "Don't be a chicken! Stand up and cheer!" exhorts the NHS Band Chicken. This good lookin biker is ... surprise! Marie Gay at teacher dress-up assembly. Harl Krishna decorated Mr. Hobeln begs for donations. Snazzy shades and hat help Craig Dahl go Hawaiian. "Oh Shoot!" exclaims Todd Knudson of the rifle team. The newest faculty cheerleader is "Boom Boom" Gimplerson. Bright red and yellow streamers are broken as the varsity enter the Homecoming field. The biggest and the best at Halloween's Pep Assembly are Mavro and Harding. Escape to the Rockies is a common phenomena during the tense 80's of Iran in Crisis and elections.

Gone Hawaiian are Shelly West and Debbie Schneider. Cones are SPEAK'S Taste-e-grams. Shining on the parade is the senior float. A tee-peed truck speaks for the yearbook staff's spirit. Hawaiian faculty are Mr. Le Mieux (Teacher of the Year) and Marie Gay. Mounted police are common in "western" Northglenn. The band heads down Melody and shows off their drum line while Kristy Snow and Jim Waldorf play the bells.

The first week of October brought a record breaking Indian Summer and the best (more participated than ever and NGHS beat Centaurus) Homecoming ever. As SPEAK unfurled a whirlwind week of activity, the Norse proved what "better than average" really means.

Shining Star Theme A Success

Juniors Beat Seniors, Norse Beat Centaurus

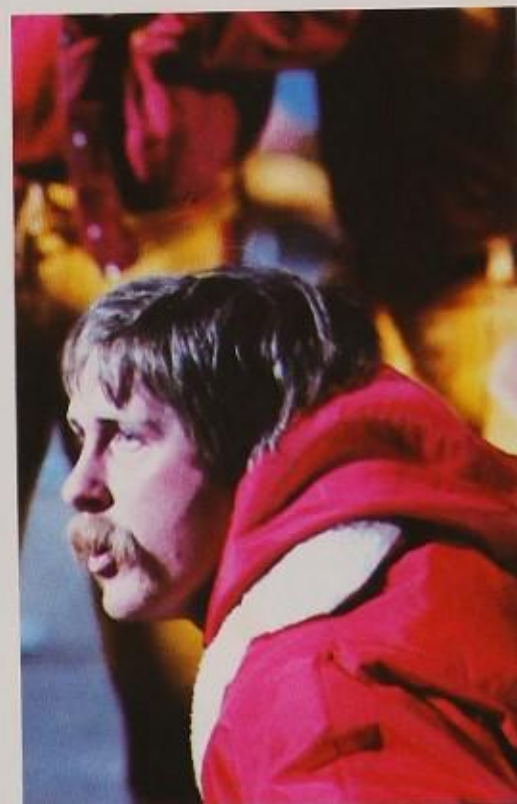

We Won

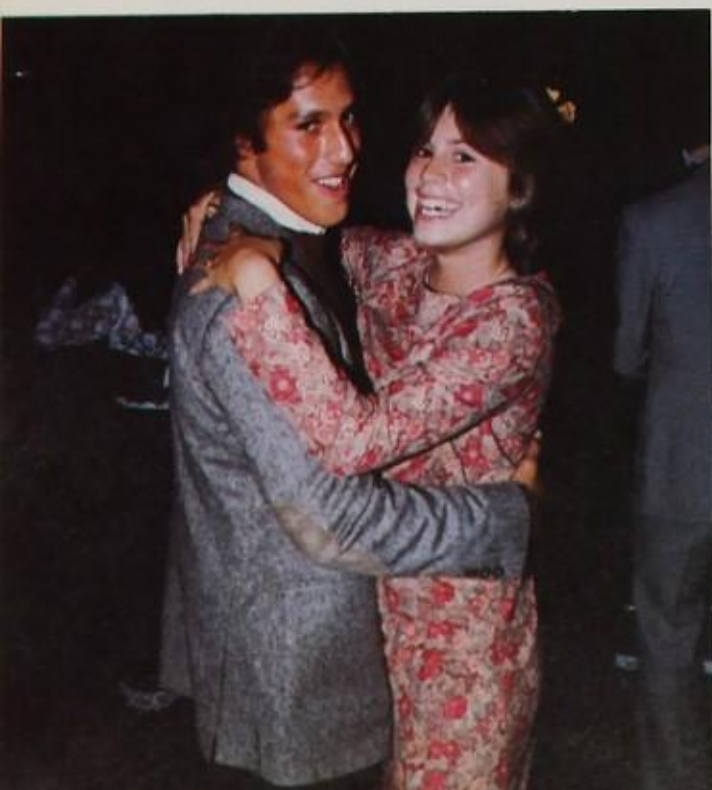

Homecoming ended victoriously. New Head Coach Dominic Capra and his varsity team "whomped" Centaurus and brought home a 34-16 victory. Earlier in the week, the Powder Puff game was a shocker. The junior team, with Coach Bruce Allen, defeated the seniors, coached by Kent Cluck, with a 12-0 victory—something which was never done before.

A satisfied smile on Co-Coach Virginia Leslie's face reveals the junior victory. #76 Chris Miller runs toward the action. Truckin' on down to a Homecoming victory is the Varsity team. A birds-eye view reveals chaos on the field. Centaurus's #66 and #36 threaten John Shaw on the 40 yard line. Staring in awe at the final score is Offensive Varsity Coach Jody Sawdo.

Who would believe it, as the sun went down, that the juniors would beat the seniors 12-0!

Corsaged cheerleaders Joanne Starling and Nancy Mathieu await the decision of who is queen. Dad Mr. Lanford escorts Senior Attendant Lori Lanford followed by Mr. Egging and Queen Terrie Egging. Only the moon can out shine the Norse enthusiasm of Linda Loehr and Connie Umberger. Trumpeteer Larry Huff solos during half time at the Homecoming game. King Mark McAninch and Queen Terrie Egging reign over their royal court of sophomores Cindy Sweat and Kent Carlson, seniors Ron Relken and Lori Lanford, and juniors Mark Orino and Dawnell Turner. Smiling Dean Bob Nunnery dances with Tammy Romero. Forming a heart around the royalty is the award winning Northglenn band. A red floral dress helps senior nominee Cheryl Chartler look her prettiest while dancing with senior nominee Tom Mascarenas. Lace, calico, and ultra-high heels make Christy Dhieux a typical 1980 fashion plate date for Dave Morgan. Crowns and thrones cause a bit of reflection for the King and Queen. Banning a Centaurus victory is the junior float. Coning his hair is Mario Pasquale.

Fun !

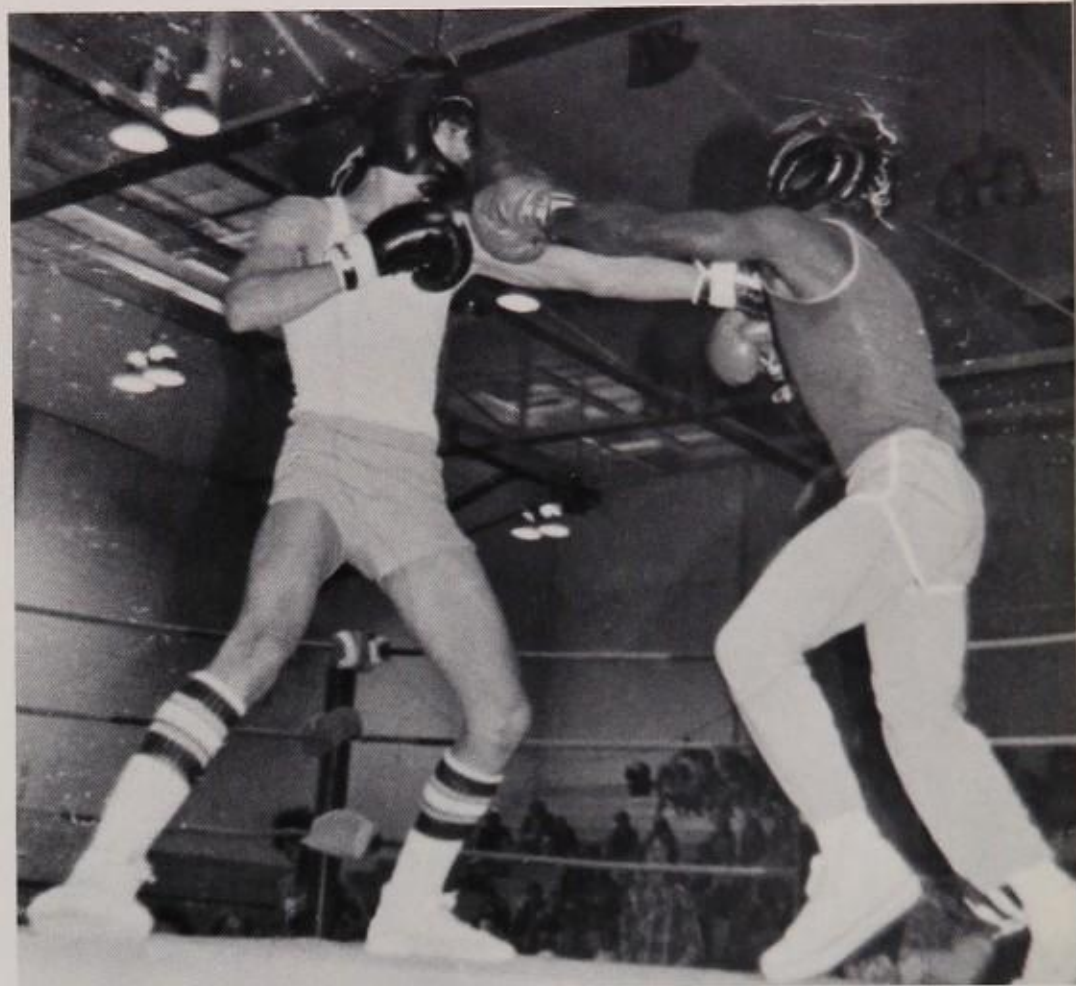

Homecoming '80. The best ever at NGHS. The Norsemen had more spirit and looked better than they ever had. Whether participating in the various events during the week, cheering at the football game, or dancing the night away, the generic Norse shined on and took exceptional pride in NGHS. Homecoming was more than just another week at NG. It was truly a "Shining Star". Just like the theme predicted.

Norse box

Another generic activity that happens every year is the Smoker. A large crowd gathered in the bleachers to watch the spectacular event, as the generic Norsemen (above average to others, of course) stepped into the ring and put on a show. Much skill and energy was combined as each person put out his best effort to display a good fight. Although a few of the matches were only for blood, many were just friendly battles, mainly for fun. Ringside seats this year were reserved for the thirteen Brazillians who received another idea of the "American life style." Of course, the girls carrying round cards were of the utmost interest . . .

"Hurry! Get up!" yells one boxer, as he stands among the rest of the fighters. A quick check-up is given to Chris Miller before he goes back in the ring to fight. "Hit me with yur best shot!" Both energy and skill is combined as Tom Sandoval and Chester fight in the ring. Left, Swing! Right Job! Shouts one Norse as he coaches his partner. Fighting Blindly are Steve Titus and Kenny Mallinson. Gloves was all there was in the faces of Rick Sisk and Brian Halbert.

Brazil visits NG!

An Experiment in International Living, an International organization, was brought home to Northglenn by Counselor Barb Wills when she arranged for 13 Brazilians to live with Norse students for three weeks in January.

Learning about a different culture and sharing in the experience were Peggy Brannigan, Dawn Bechtel, Karen Edwards, Eric Gillespie, Debbie Herlford, Amy Klemke, Michael McCarthy, Sarah Peltzman, Dave Selman, Sandy Solt, Chris Wooten.

The family hosts for the Exchange Students wait anxiously for the Brazillians. The organ grinder was just one of the exciting experiences the Brazillians shared. Commitment to Excellence shows Jose Elias just after arriving in Northglenn. Snow and mountains were fun for the Peltzman family and their guest. The Brazillian feast was fun and delicious for everyone who came ... and the food had been brought all the way from Brazil! A fearful farewell was given to Amelia Silva by Ms. Wills, the two leaders of the Brazillian experiment. Loretto Heights provided four weeks of English training for the Brazillians before their home stays. Smiling for the camera is Chipichi (Amy Klemke's guest). R.T.D. was a way of transportation for the Brazillians as they learned the American way of life.

Perhaps history will see it differently, but 1980-1981 seemed to be a culmination of pent-up anger and energy throughout the planet earth.

The earth itself struggled with Mt. St. Helens' intermittent eruptions and earthquakes in both the Mediterranean and Northglenn. The third world emerged as an even stronger power: Russia showed its strength in Afghanistan while Poland flexed its muscles of independence. The energy crisis put Arab countries in the spotlight while the Iranian Hostage situation became a household topic. The era of negotiation as a tool of existence began in earnest.

Who was to be in charge? Whose rights were to transcend others? In America, the conservative "moral majority" vaulted Ronald Reagan into the Presidency, evidently in response to the liberalism of the sixties and seventies. This moral majority was pro-life, anti-gun control, fed up with excessive inflation and government spending, and eager to restore some of the old traditional values

A stressful life-style full of changing values ... yes, violence had become not something that happened to someone else, but rather generic. Mankind seemed to be at a crossroads.

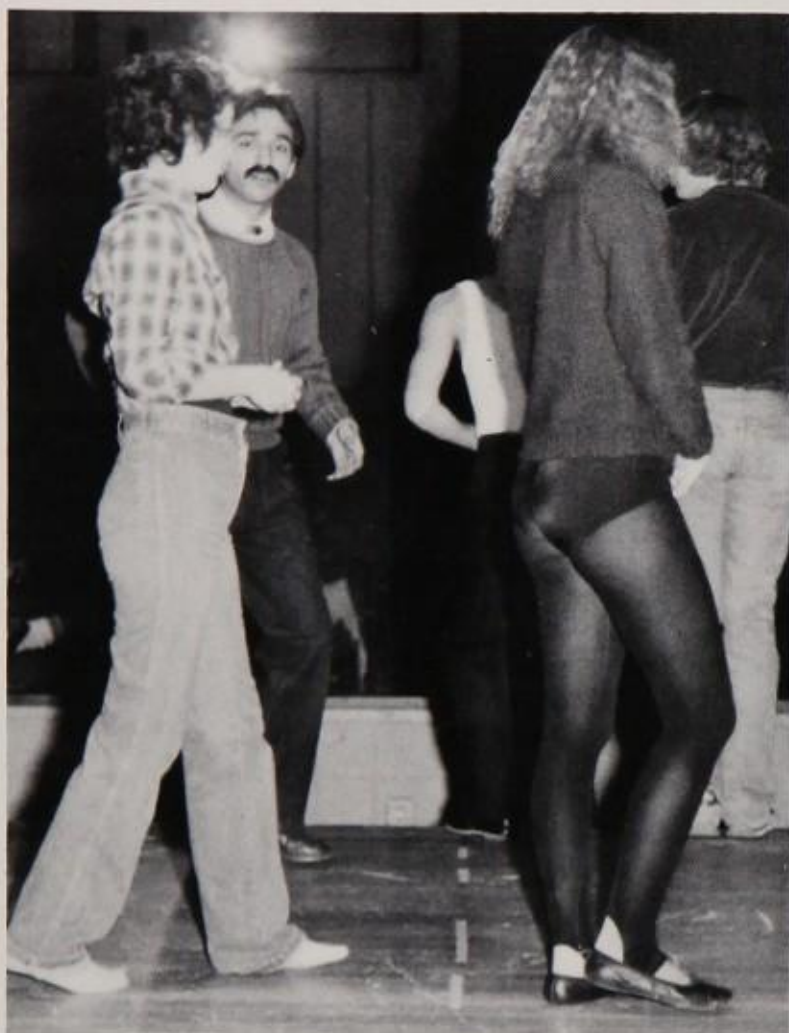

Undaunted, Norsemen pulled themselves together and built a strong foundation of trust and communication through SPEAK, School Climate, and staff efforts. They did not condone such negative values. NGHS was an island of positive thinking.

The light of Norse theatre, Director Ross Subla, will be dimmed a bit by his decision to leave NGHS for further study. A solid star who carried the show is Annie Butler, Sweet Charity.

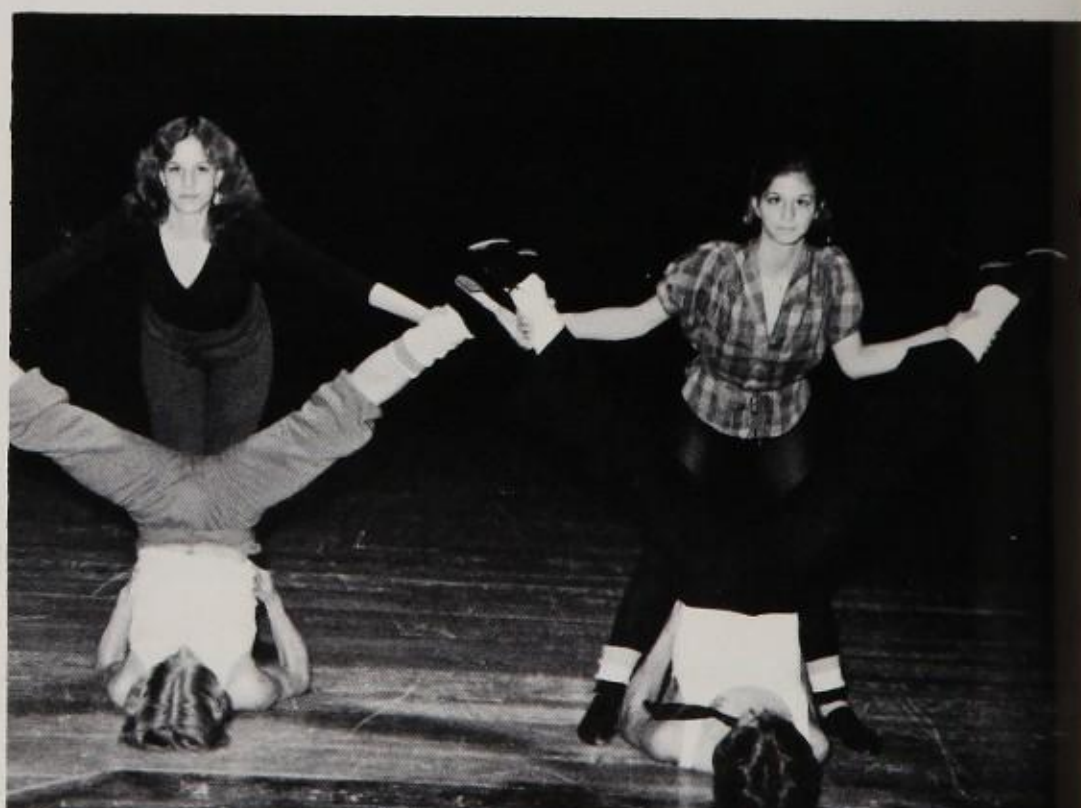

How sweet it is!

Once again, the NGHS theatre presented an outstanding musical production. The play, Sweet Charity, with its generic cast of around forty, was a big hit. Much time was spent in rehearsals and preparation, but all was well worth it.

Annie Butler portrayed the dance hall girl, Sweet Charity, who fell in love with a businesslike man, Oscar, played by Kevin Schwartz. There were three performances, each of which had a very pleased and happy crowd. All in all, it was a Grade A production!

An upside-down Annie is held by Josh Ingwerson and Brian Dickens. The dance routine is a difficult one, as anyone in the dance cast can agree. Rehearsing the dance are Linda Paul, Burbuck, Brian Dickens, and Rudy Degenhardt. "Hey Big Spender!" chorused the dance hall girls. The whole cast is included in the jazzy religious dance.

*The poster says it all. Running the lights for the production is Rudy Degenhardt. Before the mirrors, carefully putting on make-up, is the cast of the Bad Seed. Reaching for a glass of water is Christine Penmark, played by L.A. Smith. "Ouch! That hurts!" complains Rosette Sublia as she gets her hair braided by Cathy Pass and Patty Wells.*

Bad Seed - Not Bad!

Every year the Norse Theatre puts on several generic productions. The first production of the year was The Bad Seed. Even though the title was "black and white," the play was well-received! The main star was the director's own sister, Rosette Subla, but the rest of the cast was from NGHS. The main character was a child whose corruptness and evil is hidden from her parents by her innocence. Terrifying events finally cause her mother to kill herself and cause unhappiness for the rest of the characters. This generic play was superbly done (as is usual of any Norse performance)!

A reflection of Northglenn's great actress Annie Butler mirrors Annie as she puts on her make-up. "Lipstick goes on thick, so the audience can see your mouth," explains Cindy Selfert.

Make-up removal is a difficult task, as Matt Tracy can attest to. Eye make-up is applied by Jim Bushnel. Blow drying his hair, Kevin Schwarz prepares for the play.

"Practice makes perfect," Diana Ward tells the cast as the props are arranged on stage. The melodious maid is portrayed by Diane Dittbrenner. Three couples smile while the picture is taken of the "Bald Soprano Cast": Steve Hendricks, L.A. Smith, Rudy Degenhardt, Diane Dittbrenner, Annie Butler, and Mike Tracy.

Not Generic!

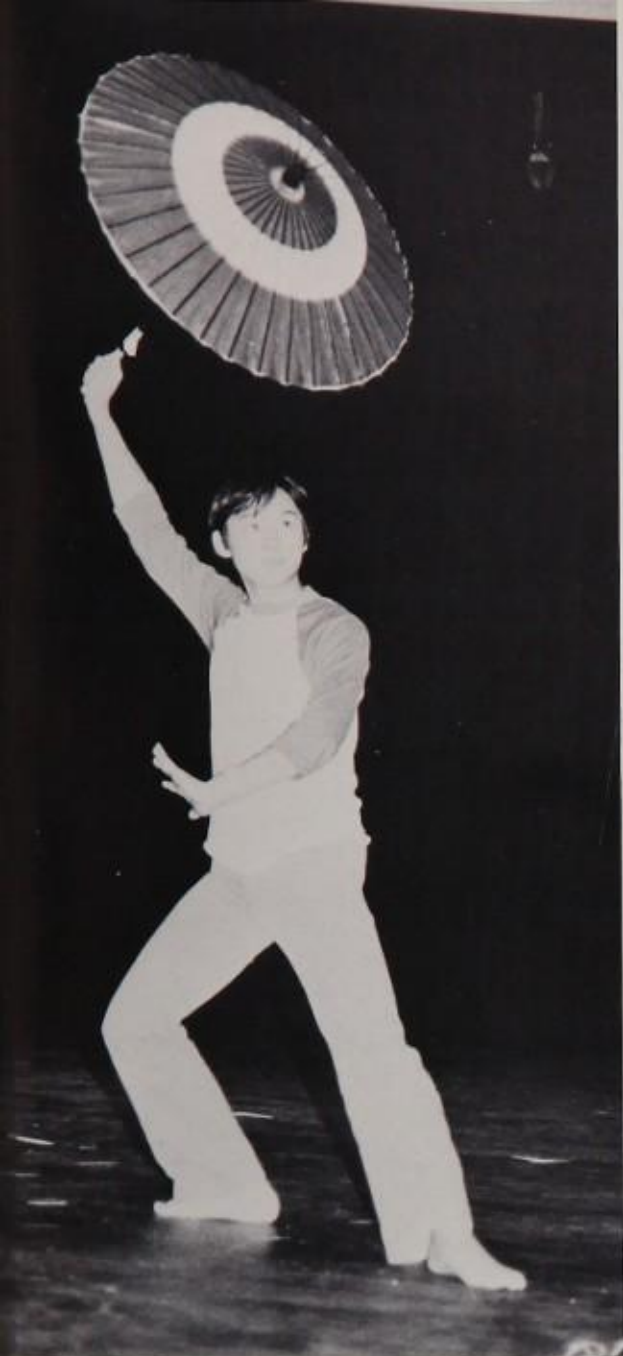

Each year the Norse Theatre presents a generic spring production. This year, however, the two comedies performed were not quite so generic, as they offered a bit of change from the usual comedies presented. Under the direction of Ross Subla and Marjean Goodroad, the two plays, "The Bald Soprano" and "Hold me," were uniquely presented. "The Bald Soprano" dealt mainly with communication and the problems that often occur through the lack of communication. "Hold Me" displayed the realities of life and primarily faced the relationships encountered throughout life.

The smiling faces of the "Hold Me" cast: Diana Ward, Susie Engle, Mark Abott, Sue Noblitt, Jeff Gregory. Straw hat and grasped hands display a touching scene done by Diana Dittbrenner and Rudy Degenhardt. In statue-like poses, Mike Tracy and Annie Butler stare straight ahead. In step together are Jeff Gregory, Sue Noblitt, Mark Abott, and Susie Engle.

Expressions goes Hollywood

Expressions? Expressions gave students a chance to exhibit many different talents such as singing, dancing, and variety acts. The annual show was directed by Ross Subia and Marjean Goodroad.

An umbrella dance, reminiscent of Ancient Japan brought Mitsuru Yoshimura, Exchange Student, to stage. Lying on the stage after a hoedown is the cast of Expressions. Carrying a tune were masters of ceremonies, Val Fryberger and Annie Butler.

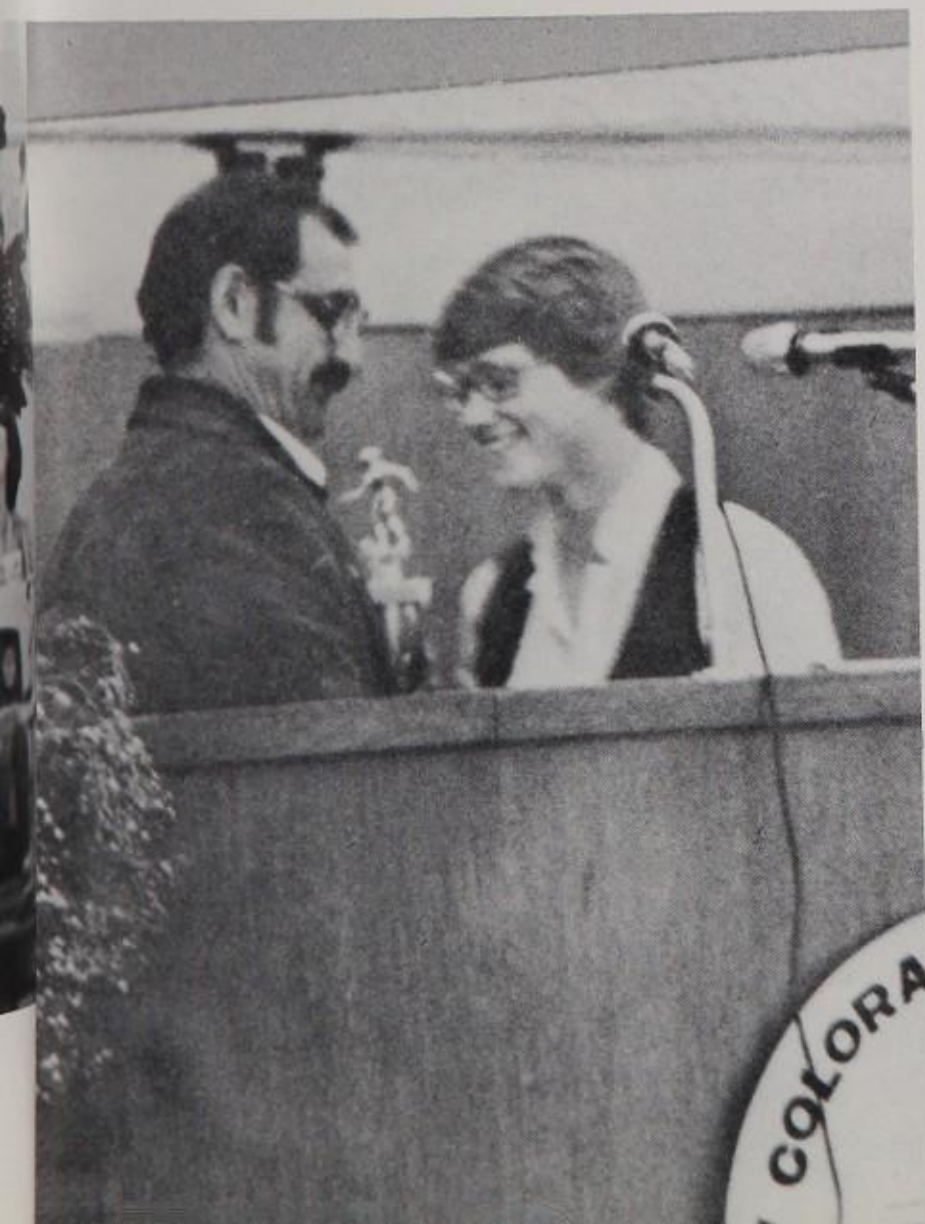

Athletes honored

The 81' annual Athletic Banquet was held in honor of the Northglenn athletes, all of which had that generic Norseman talent and skill. At Adams County Fairgrounds, the banquet was put on by Letterman's and Varsity clubs, and John Connors was titled Master of Ceremony. After a delicious buffet, athletes, parents, coaches, and spectators sat at tables and awaited the giving out of awards. Anxiety was expressed on each face as coaches gave their generic speeches and shining trophies. Tears, laughter, and feelings of astonishment and disappointment were present throughout the room the entire evening. The 80-81 school year was rated as extremely successful and maintaining that generic Norseman quality.

Master of Ceremony is John Connors, telling his dry jokes. The Mark Duncan award, which indicates excellence in athletics and academics, is awarded to Linnea Carlson. Linnea also won the outstanding Girls Volleyball award. Applause is given by the honored guests: Scott Unger, Mr. Schlessler, Mrs. Strickland, Dr. Strickland, and Deahn Hendrixson. Trophies representing each sport tantalize the audience before the announcement. The girls soccer award is presented to all American player Julie Brozovich by Coach Razani. The delicious buffet is enjoyed by everyone, especially Rob Reynolds, Dawn Minnich, Wendy Damuth, and Curt Winn.

A delicious cake is displayed on a beautifully decorated table. Having the "best of time" are Rudy Degenhardt and his date. Sparkling waters set the atmosphere for the night. Burgandy, not a color, was the band who performed at NGH's 1981 Prom. Mopping the dance floor with their shoes are NGH students. Two suits??? NGHS was really in vogue. A tux was the norm for the evening. Dance ... Dance ... Dance.

Egging, Engstrom rule

The Junior-Senior Prom of 1981 was a flowery sight at the Dome Room at the Adams County Fairgrounds. The rose was a proper flower for King Bob Engstrom and Queen Terrie Egging and their court: senior escort and attendant Steve Olguin and Cheryl Chartler and junior escort and attendant Steve Titus and Diane Martinez. With the band Burgandy and the colors of white rose and burgandy tying everything together, the prom was indeed "the best of times."

Spirits are high as balloons are suspended from the roof. Close dancing ah A Handshake from Principal McCulloch is gladly accepted by Steve Titus. Prom Queen Terrie Egging proudly accepts a gift of roses. Walking to the traditional dance is Terrie Egging and Bob Engstrom. A still night it wasn't when the bodies started to move. Posing proudly are Bob Engstrom (selected King) and Terrie Egging (selected Queen).

With a Flair

Exquisite restaurants, fancy cars, and guys suited to the occasion ... that was what PROM was all about. One last exciting time before graduation, the 1981 Prom was an emotional tribute to a class that had excelled beyond the high expectations set by the administration. More scholarship money than ever was earned, but this Saturday night was the night to be a lady and gentleman ... and the generic Norse did so with a flair.

599 Graduate

The end of the year proved to fit the theme of generic, as graduation was held at a more generic location, District 12 Stadium. The move from D.U. due to busing and finances was a smart one. It did not seem so at first for most people speculated the cancelation of graduation due to the rain. Soon the skies cleared up and the day was perfect. Bleachers were filled with parents, relatives, and friends, of the graduates. Speeches were made and music performed. Finally the 599 graduates, honor students in white, received their diplomas. Faces expressed the feelings of happiness, confusion, and exhaustion. Congratulations were exchanged, and all seniors were wished the best.

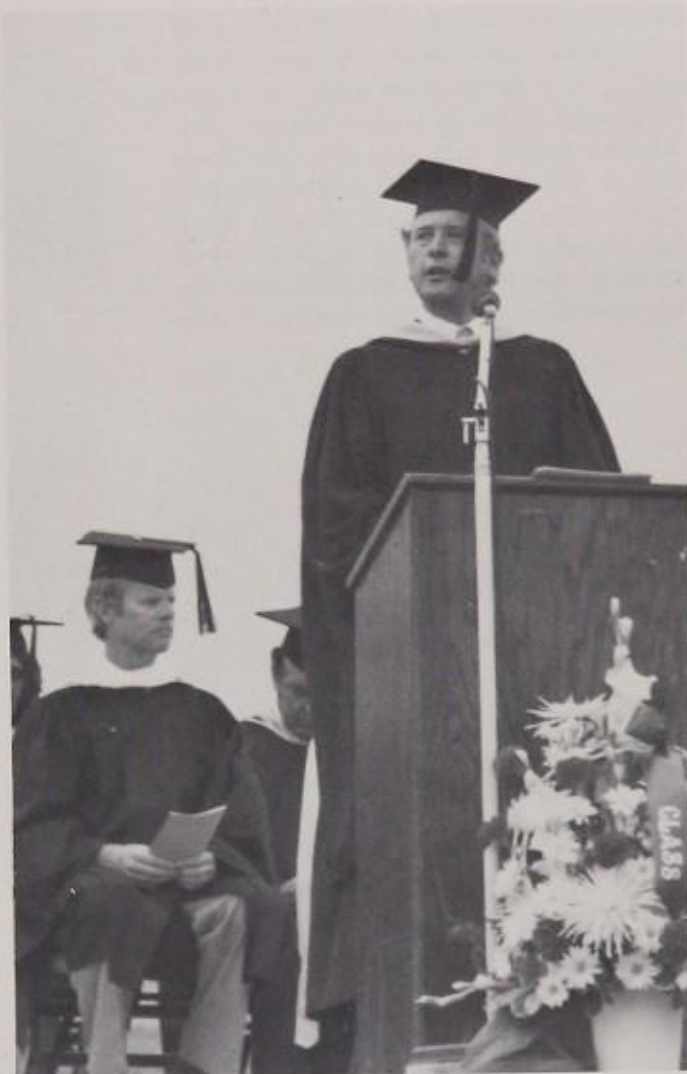

From under the Umbrella, two faculty members Forrest Miller and Anne Jeffries, peek out. A Vocal group consisting of Mike Tracy, Brenda Tarpley, Jeff Simmons, and Val Fryberger, sing. "The Body Electric." Across the catwalk comes the 1981 graduating class in both red and white robes. Umbrellas are a familiar sight among the crowd because of rain.

Faculty Herald Mark Mavrogianes reads off the graduates' names. Front row seats are quickly taken by seniors. Presentation of the class of 1981 is given by Mr. McCulloch. Dressed in black, the department representatives portray a dignified manner. The procession leaders are Board President Bowman and Superintendent Bailey.

A glance to the left by a 1981 graduate shows a look of relief. Conductor of the band, for the last time, is senior Kevin Williams. The procession off the field displays the happy seniors after receiving their diplomas. Descending the stairs is Scott Wicker. Valedictorian Doug Roberts presents his speech. The Salutatory address is given by Julie Reichart. Senior Class President Leslie Kimball presents the Senior Class gift. On the platform reading off graduates is faculty Herald D'Ann Sanko. Concert Choir performs "These are The Times of Your Life". Vice-President Tammi Hannaway, winner of a West Point appointment, reads the benediction. An overview picture of graduation shows the seniors in line for their diplomas.

81 — The Generic Best

1981 graduation upheld the generic uniqueness with relief. As seniors walked down the stadium stairs, a certain feeling of astonishment and happiness filled the air. Everyone sat quietly while the Invocation was read, the guests were introduced, and the senior gift presented. Entertainment by the vocal group, choir, and band added a sentimental touch. Inspirational speeches were given by both Salutatorian Julie Reichert and Valedictorian Doug Roberts. After the presentation of the class of 1981 by Mr. McCulloch came the moment everyone had waited for - the giving of diplomas by Faculty Heralds D'Ann Sanko and Mark Mavrogianes.

A bunnycake done to perfection proves Darla Sanborn and Daylene Johnson learned something in Home Ec! An empty classroom awaits the generic Norse. Special swimming classes are held at NGHS's natatorium for all fifth grade students in District 12 as part of their physical development program. A teacher coffee cup is Tom Garrison's source of energy as it is for many teachers who burn the midnight oil grading papers. Stacks of papers and file drawers help secretary Joyce Christensen maintain an accurate library. A generic student utilizes a study carrel.

ACADEMICS

This doesn't mean ordinary like in every American classroom because, after all, this is Northglenn-
where generic Norsemen
academic accomplishments!

Seeing the differences is Kevin McIntyre. Looking at things the way they really are is Dave Watanabe. A substitute showing a film replaces Mr. Gimpleson for a day. Physical fitness is a part of almost every generic Norseman's day. Experiments are a part of Helmut Kaiser, Chris Hill, and Kirk Harris' daily routine in physics. The generic Norsemen discover that friends can be made even in science. Long hours of practicing in front of mirrors are necessary for all pep squad members. Observing the bunsen burner is Tom Castro.

Getting back to . . . BASICS

Northglenn High's academic world was inundated with BASICS. What is BASICS? Simply, BASICS is a program that teaches teachers how to teach. It isn't a new set of objective or materials or abstract theories. Instead, it focused on thinking skills (strategies). Although not required, many teachers at NGHS did take the courses and start creating and maintaining opportunities for students to develop, improve, and apply thinking skills.

Enough of such garble de gook! Let's look at what teachers learned in the first of these courses, called BASICS A! BASICS A helped students to observe, recall, to tell the differences, the similarities.

We ordered

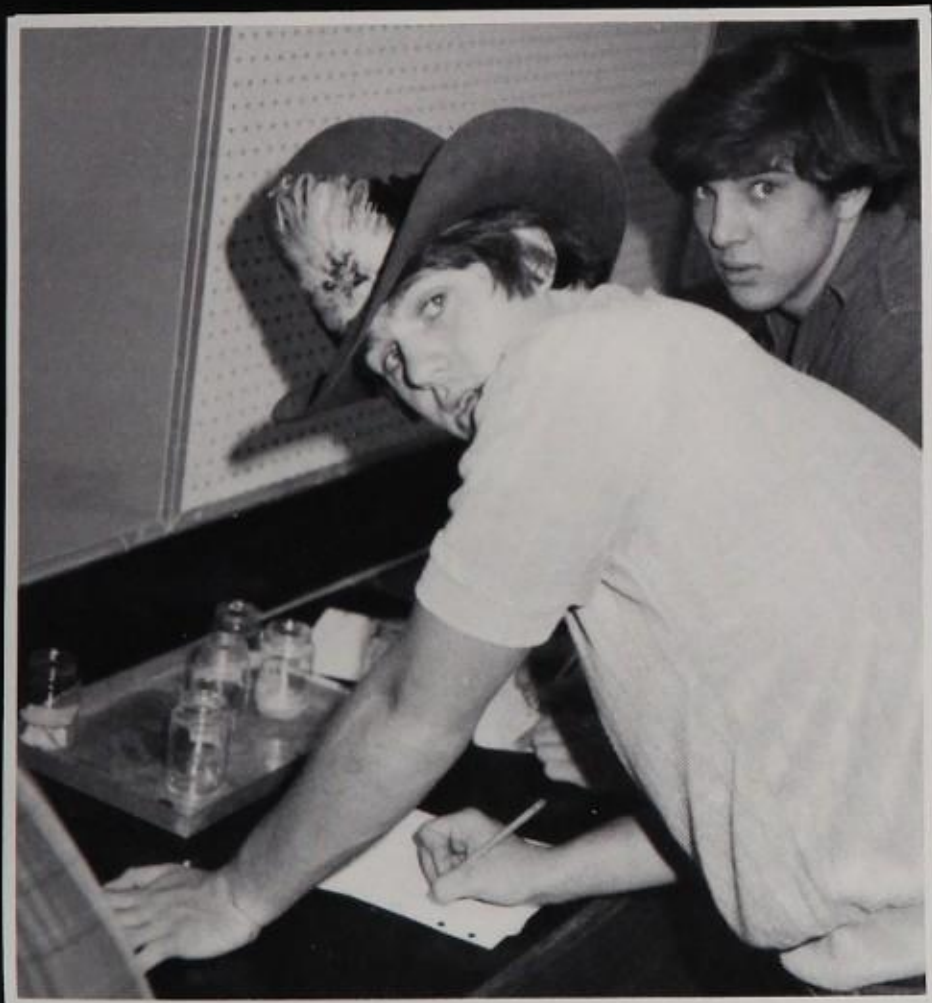

Now we must admit that not all teachers took nor readily implemented BASICS. As a matter of fact, some of the best (favorite?) teachers did not use it. And BASICS did not guarantee automatic success. But faculty members like Dave Gimpleson, Margo Levy, and Larry Smith trained and subsequently taught fellow staff members. Those who "got into" Basics A proceeded on to Basics B.

And in BASICS B the thinking skills of ordering, grouping, labeling, and classifying were practiced. For instance ...

Classifying their deficits and assets under "Grampa Gentry's" guidance are Jim Earling and Robert McClary. A badminton serve has a definite sequence as Julie Flickinger demonstrates. The Facial Expression tells us that smelling is believing as Robert McClary and John Johnson classify their chemical.

Grouping the pictures into sophomore and junior categories are Debbie Donner, Len Rice, Mitze Rympe, Nicole Kypke, and Karla Kruzela. "I label this as being boring, dull . . . but necessary," says David Walker and John Johnson. Sewing also requires a definite order or else the sleeve might be attached to the hem as Christine DeKing, Lisa Lundy, and Kim Miller show.

Becoming abstract

By the time anyone took or practiced BASICS C, the thinking skills became more and more abstract. Students began to infer attributes or meanings. They looked at cause and effect. They practiced making conclusions and generalizations. Well, take a look . . .

Mr. Devenish's favorite position is beside his overhead. Planning ahead before cutting the cake is Todd Kreger. At the board is Mr. Kammerling. A Physics experiment is done by Keith Buck. Taking the time to stitch correctly is Cathy Nolop.

going beyond the concrete

By the time students and teachers used BASICS D techniques, one knew who were the brains. Really abstract thinking skills were taught to teachers in the fourth class and when these teachers taught their students, well, does inquiry, anticipating, or making choices sound easy? Yet committed to excellence as all generic Norse are, on they went . . . thinking . . . learning.

Missing the ball in PE class means Danny Hull didn't anticipate well. Bewildered is Mr. Sands in CO-OP when Rich White teaches the class. A worried look often reflects Barb McCarthy's commitment to the yearbook. Leaning on the counter is Mike Parker while Robert Smith looks on. A mirror helps the cheerleaders to anticipate the next part of their routine. Studies and motion in AP Physics are interesting to John Knapp, Tony Hill, and Dave Elger. A good spike by Jack Harrington will get his team a winning point. Inquiring the wrong way will never get PE student Shawn Riddel a winning score.

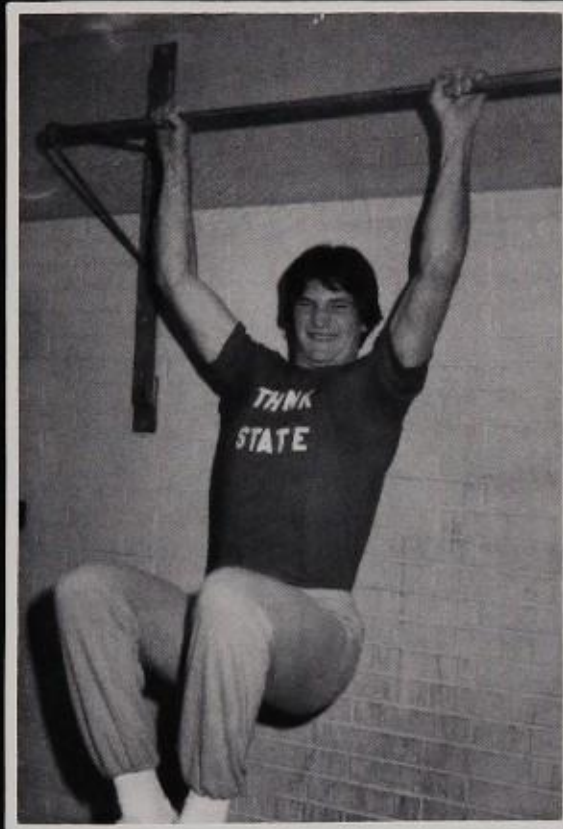

Absolutely dead from teaching are Shaun Armour, Dave Gimpleson, and Paul Ellis. A look at the clock by teacher Mr. Hutchinson proves students aren't the only ones who watch the time. Ready to bump the ball is Margaret Sampson. Planning a routine are Donna Boffey and Barb Gifford. Having a swinging time in PE is Randy Drelitz. Group work is just one part of skills lab.

Learning should be fun

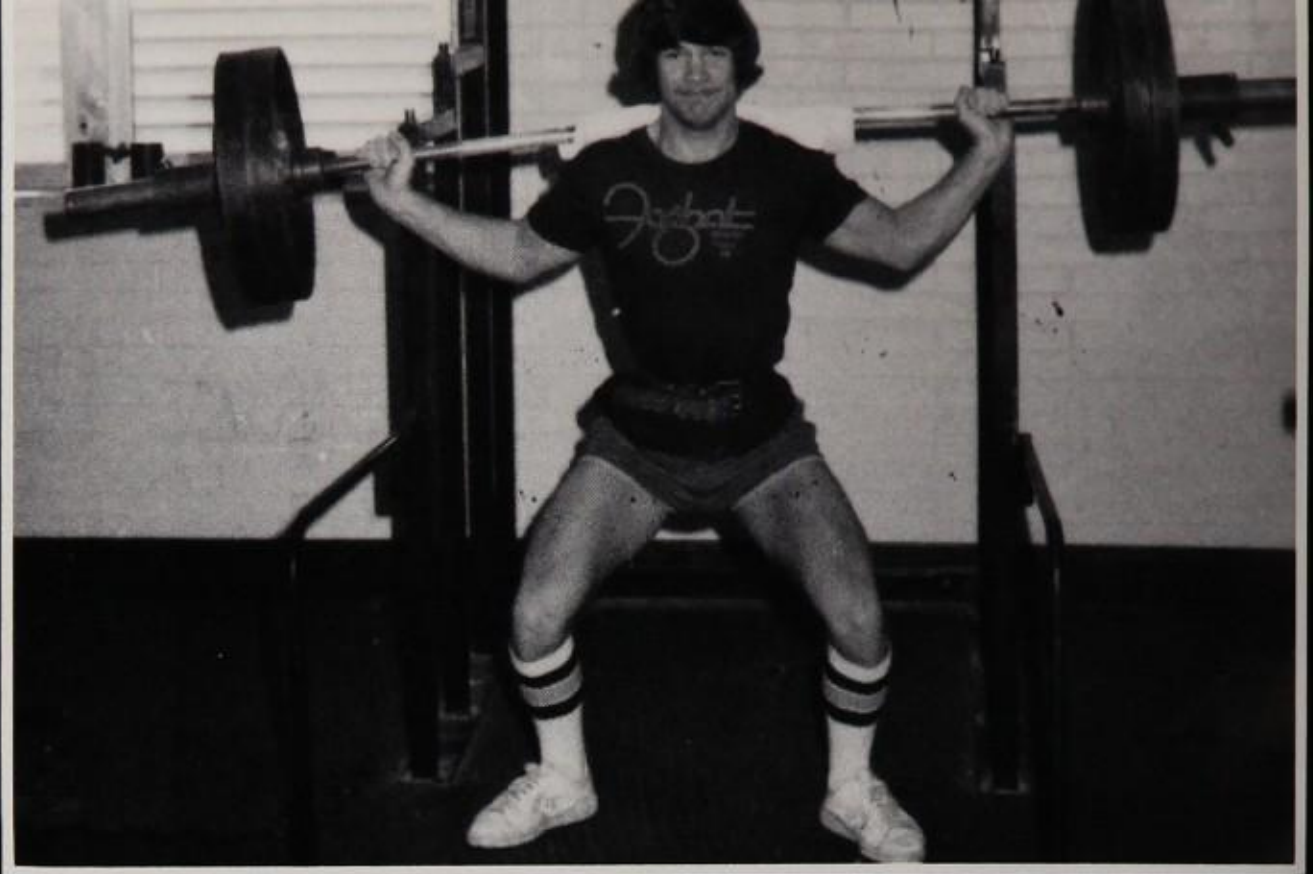

Tests and ACT scores aside, one of the best things going at NGHS was the rapport between staff and students. This was no common everyday generic relationship. Instead, the special Norse relationship prevailed and brought fun into the classroom. After all, learning can be fun, can't it!

It is!

A Foghat t-shirt hides many a muscle of Steve Lower's. A final typing product without errors makes Ken Hill, Rick Albin, Rose Omev, Pat Sebring, and Sean Driscoll smile. Home Ec and HERO bulletin boards help Dept. Chr. Joan Severns teach Brian Krantz, Melissa Wells, Diana Haytko, Amy Smith and Lona Zimdar everything there is to know! Small, individualized classes also key courses to students' needs and Jan Valaskovic's class is one of them!

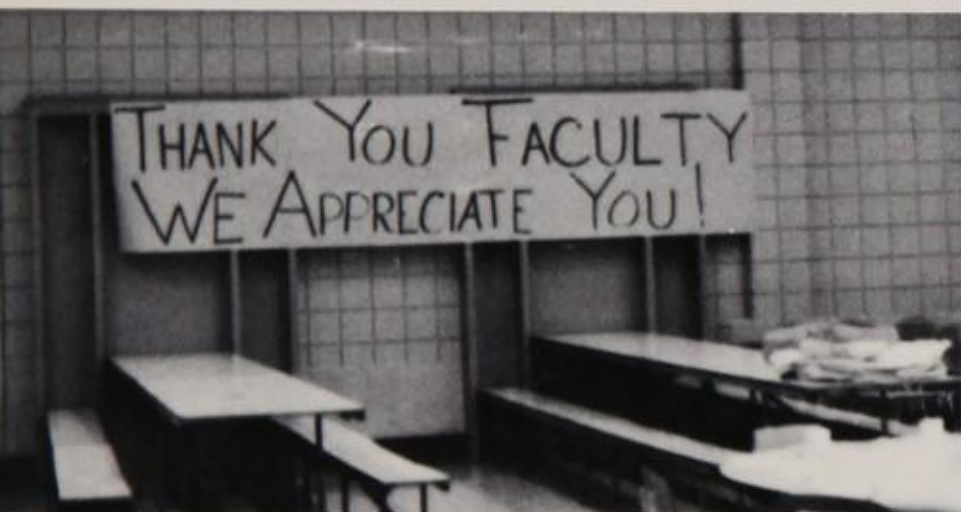

But the key to it all:

Real Learning took place!

It has been said that learning skills are on the decline. Northglenn is proving that statement wrong! With the help of a new program called BA-SICS, students are understanding and able to comprehend their courses a lot better!

"I made it!" smiles Melanie Mestas as she learns to lift those weights! Co-ed and semester instead of quarter classes were instituted in the PE department. Attentive listeners are D'Ann Sanko's CP Comp Students.

To take a good photo, it takes a good photographer such as Craig Williams! A sign shows thanks and appreciation to the faculty from student council members. A parade at homecoming included the NGHS marching band which took 1st in state. Selling tickets to raise money for club activities is a regular sight in the commons. The Dating Game was a hit for Campus Life. Cutting the cherries for the teachers appreciation breakfast is Karla Kruzela.

NGHS has Foreign Affair

Becoming Bilingual

The foreign language teachers and students staged their annual Foreign Language Fair February the 27th. There was a variety of food representative of each language, singing groups, and dancers.

The year long Foreign Exchange Students gave the Brazillians a party welcoming them to the United States. The students were also waiting anxiously for the conference consisting of Exchange Students from all over the United States which was to be held in May.

Taking their pictures together in their native dress are Yasuhide Soga and Mitsuru Yusuda. Foreign Exchange Students work on Homecoming float. Choir diversifies!

Concert Choir - This sixty member mixed choir gave several concerts this year in such diverse places as New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Colorado.

Girls Choir - Girls Choir is an organization designed for those girls who would like to improve their singing. Many Northern Lights and Concert Choir members have started their careers here.

Northern Lights - This group can be best classified as a vocal jazz/show choir. They are as at home singing jazz choir music as they are when performing show choir music. However, when Northern Lights sings show choir, they are able to dress it up to the hilt, using both costumes and choreography.

Before settling down, the members find that the choir room can be a place to share and find new friends. Studying their sheet music is part of learning to harmonize. "The sheet music is lost!!!" says Cindy Seifert. Throwing her arms up in laughter is Nancy Huerena. "What page are we singing?" asks Diane Dittbrenner while Kim Davis ponders ... something! Sitting and waiting for the unavoidable but ever consistent bell is girls choir.

Working?!!

Choir involves a large number of Northglenn's students. With many choices of singing groups, students had a chance to display their talents. Among the choices were choir, Honor Choir, Girls Choir, and Northern Lights.

Northern Lights, a group of singers and dancers who jazz up their performances and the audience's mood, were one of three groups chosen in Colorado to perform before the State Music Teachers Association at the Broadmoor.

Other groups competed at various levels and performed for many occasions such as Henry Bollman Day (honoring the school board president) and graduation.

Val Fryberger achieved membership in the All-State choir. Jenny Eckdahl, Tom Bramer, Russ Glissmann, Linda Burbach, Louanna Gardner, Brenda Tarpley, Patty Wells, and Edith Suarez represented Honor Choir.

Band steps into 3 Championships

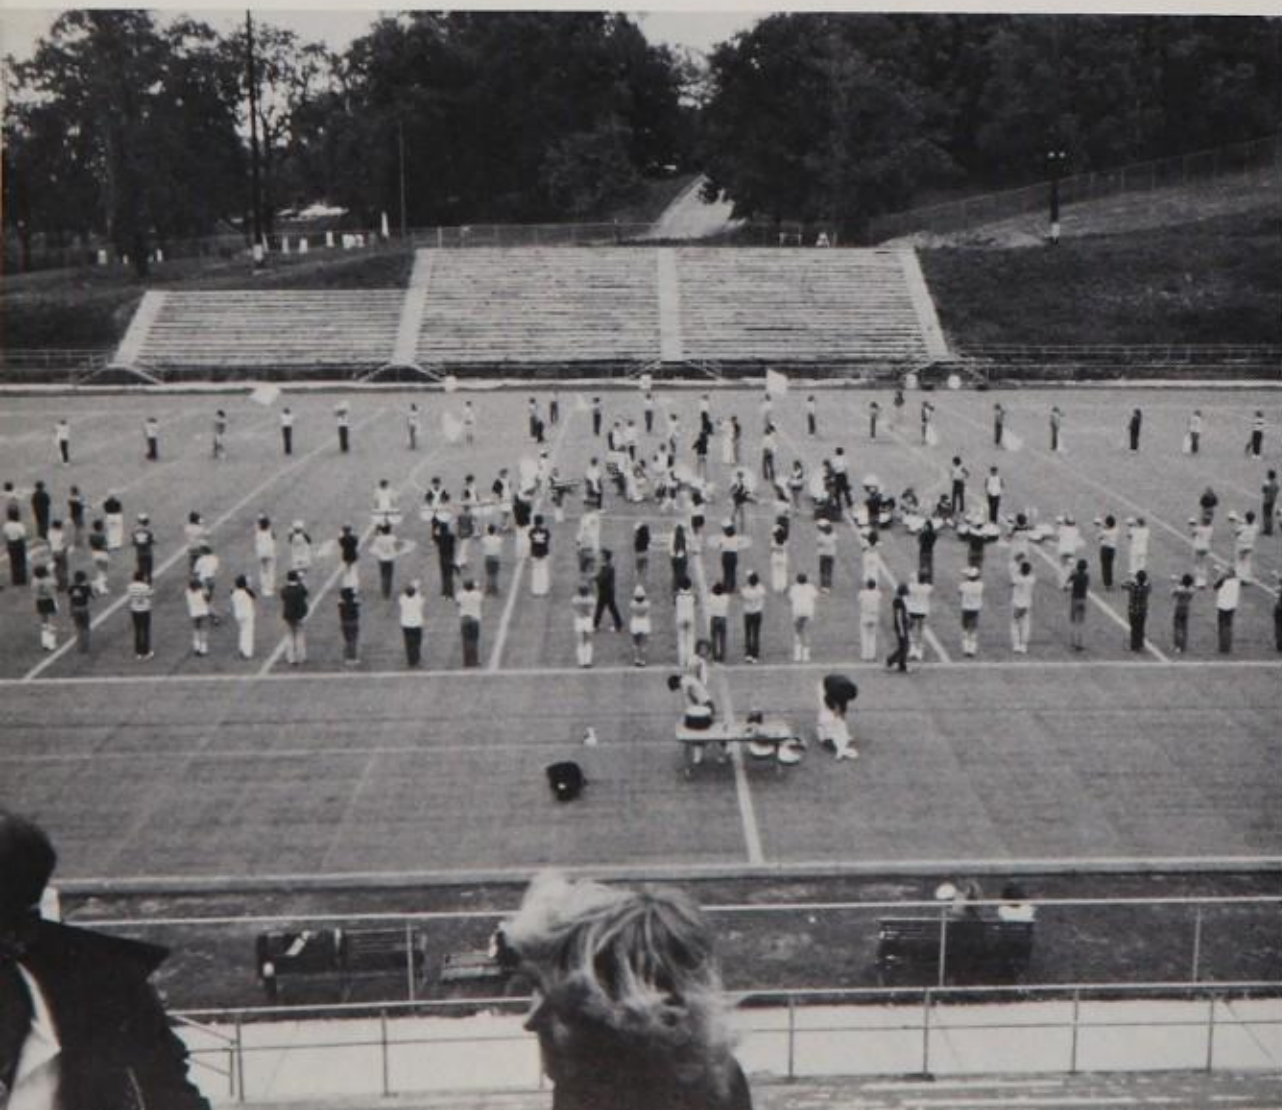

The NGHS marching band was one example of the devoted and traveling Norse. They entered contests in Grand Junction, Boulder, and St. Louis as well as parades in Arvada and Ft. Lupton. But the band could "strut their stuff" at home as well and in November in front of the largest crowd the Colo. Bandmaster's Assoc. has seen, they were the Grand Champions with the best drum line, general effect, and music score.

Co. Bandmaster's Assoc. State Dist. 12 Stadium	State Grand Champion
Co. Bandmaster's Assoc. Regional Boulder	2nd place
Englewood Invitational Englewood	3rd place
Co. West Invitational Grand Junction	Grand Champion
CU Band Days Boulder	6th of 35 bands
Valley of Flowers Festival St. Louis	Class A Division Winner
Trapper Days Parade Ft. Lupton	Grand Champion

Continuous practice by the committed members enables them to shine in competition. Rewarded for their efforts the band is given an assembly attended by city and district officials. Drum Major Kevin Williams leads the band in the state competition. On the phone, Don Burdeaux is the planning mastermind behind the band.

Awesome!

Hey, Blue Buses, Where ya headed!

Mile Hi City, truck driver.

What ya got there? 4 big blue buses coming out of nowhere across Kansas, well, you look mighty awesome.

Northglenn High Marching Band • Colorado Champs. And just took first in St. Louis.

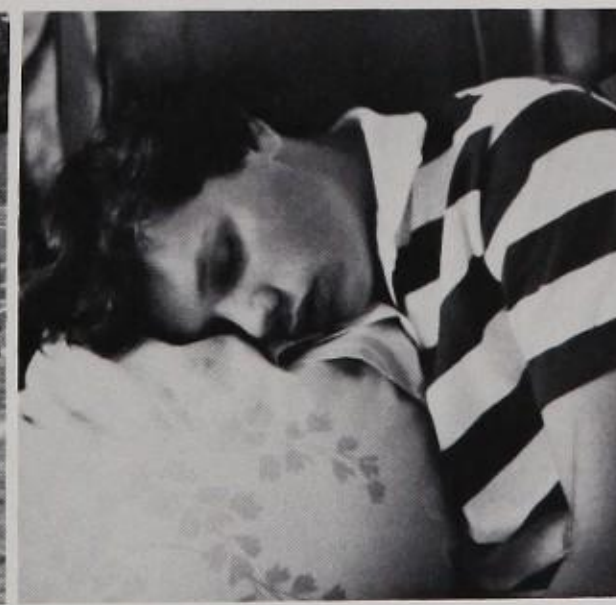

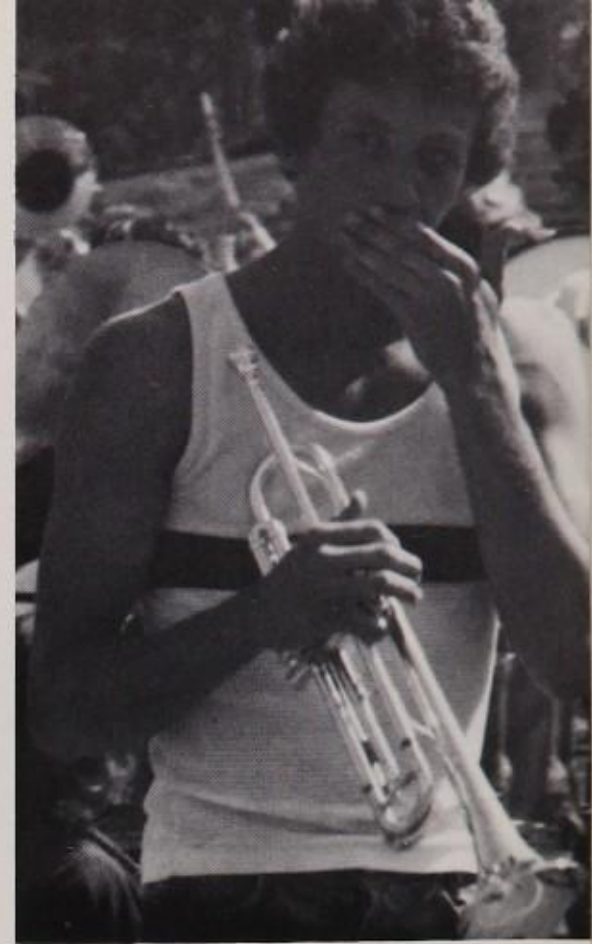

Hey, that sounds awesome!

They sound awesome. You shoulda seen their performance Sat. Morning. Those kids honor Burdeaux so much they refused to eat breakfast • just wanted to practice • all 160 of them. The audience was on their feet • in tears. That was awesome. And when they won their division, the ole #1 sign and a chant of "Awesome" arose from the crowd.

Sounds more awesome than the St. Louis Arch. Did they do any touring?

Yeah, but these four guides were somethin' else. Been driving all night since we left Six Flags at midnight.

Well, I'm Impressed. Better watch. Smokey's down the road three or so. 10-4. Awesome!

In Tune . . .

All the Northglenn High School bands remained active throughout the year. Northglenn's Orchestra not only gave great concerts, but they played wonderfully at school plays such as Sweet Charity. Their powerful melodies made for great listening throughout the year. The Jazz band members became travelers as they went to Reno, Nevada, to perform. Every year the Wind Ensemble, made up of strong and dedicated players, perform at an average of three concerts. Since all these ensembles play at Northglenn High, there should always be great musical entertainment!

HERO, IRC, FHA: Busy!

HERO, FHA, and IRC were very busy. In the fall HERO won 3rd place in the proficiency event at the National HERO Conference held in Denver. During the spring both HERO and FHA sponsored community projects. HERO sponsored the Laredon Hall project which consisted of collecting kitchen equipment and money for a home for the mentally retarded. FHA sponsored the Rivendell School for the handicapped which consisted of helping them in an auction and taking food to the school for many of the holidays. FHA also went to the State Convention in Colorado Springs at the Broadmoor Hotel in the spring. The HERO State Convention was also held there later in the spring. IRC was busy with the Foreign Exchange students and the UN model.

Success!

Success is a common word to use when referring to Northglenn Varsity Cheerleaders. Not only did they give faithful support to all activities, but they also competed in Colorado Springs at State Competition.

Adding a new twist to cheering, Northglenn Pom Pons had a successful year. Routines performed to music such as "Another one bites the dust," adding variety to pep assemblies and half-time intervals. Throughout the year, the Pom Pons showed an over abundance of spirit and energy!

Generic Perfection!

Generically speaking, the junior varsity and sophomore squads were approved for everyday use. Crowds never tired of seeing them cheering at sporting events and other school functions. These squads gave a great deal of time and effort to show that the Norse were number 1.

Involvement is a prime characteristic of a generic Norsemen. Practice paid-off for the spunky, spirit filled junior varsity squad.

Reaching for higher goals of perfection is the sophomore cheerleaders. Concentration Overcomes the faces of Northglenn's spirit squads as they judge their competitors at state competition.

Flags rise, fall

Inflation brought about many changes, even at Northglenn High School. The generic Norsemen found themselves working more and spending less for other activities. This was the major reason for the lack of spirit flagtwirlers at tryouts. As a result, there will be no spirit flags for 1981-82. Another big change at Northglenn was the success of the Band Competition Color Guard. They went in as a new team and beat such teams as the Casper (Wyoming) Troopers. The Comp. Guard indeed made the Norsemen proud. Not a change, but a welcome familiarity to the Norsemen is the Concert Band Flags and Rifles.

Designs appear as the Comp. Guard creates perfect maneuvers.

Co-Op G sends Students to Work

Co-op G means an alternative experience. It means learning about the work world and then actually learning by going out and working. Whether they learned the old ways or new, they still learned how to cope with the outside world . . .

so that the Generic Norse would also succeed "out there" once they graduated. Rick White and Greg Sands help students earn work experience and a diploma.

Deca is Life

DECA is learning about life. DE has four classes and a Management Internship class. DECA has two hundred and twenty-seven members in all. Several activities such as fund raisers helped members to raise money to go to Western Regionals held at the Auraria Campus. The members who won there got to go to the Broadmoor for four days to compete in selected business areas. Management Internship is a special class only open to seniors where the students select a business that they would like to do when they graduate from high school. To earn the half credit extra for the class, the student had to intern a hundred and sixty hours without pay in hope of being hired after their graduation. DECA classes teach management and industrial business to the students. DE also helps students find jobs for which they are qualified. The sponsors and teachers for DE were Debbie Koenig, Dwaine Schmidt, and Sally Anderson.

Testing the car before the judge is a real trial of what one has learned. Under the hood is the engine ... sometimes! Sanding is part of body work. Spark plugs or pistons ... that's what Dave Rutter learned at Voc-Tech!

The drum brake station, part of the test, was Joe DeBell's place to shine! "A clean part is a working part," say Randy Pittman, Pete Hartman, and Joe Martinez. The VICA club provides leadership experience for Voc-Tech students such as Mark Conales, Joe DeBell, and students from Thornton, too. A last judging station tests the timing of the chain on a V-8 engine. Joe DeBell went on to state competition, as well as Spencer DeJongh, Ty Bohlender, Amadeo Green, Richard Helstermann, Marlo Pasquale, and Krls Katzenmeyer.

VICA is . . .

more than a club. It's a place for all Vo-tech students to learn and share experiences in the vocational program. Many NGHS students rode the special bus to Thornton to the new facility where many two year programs give Norse a real head-start on the world!

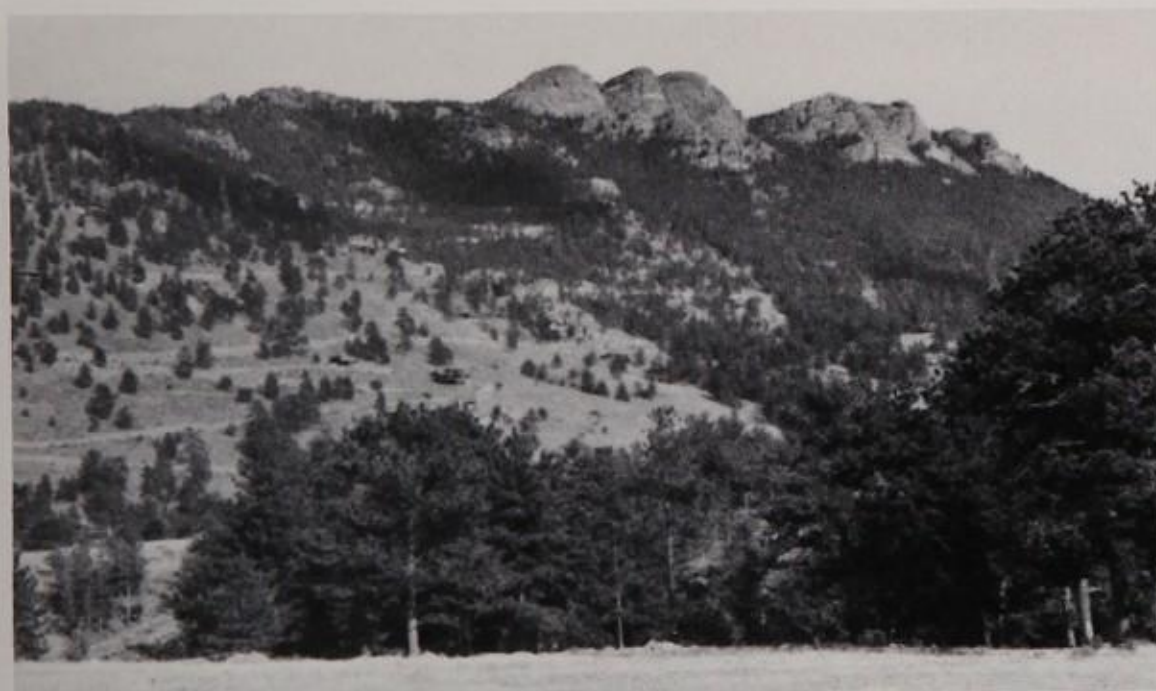

an uphill Battle

Wilderness Club enjoyed many activities during the school year. Most of the trips sponsored by the club were short two day excursions. Mr. David White sponsored the small but enthusiastic club. Club members plan and prepare for each outing well in advance to assure a smooth trip. Hiking in the Colorado mountains is a favorite of many people, and the Wilderness Clubbers are no exceptions.

Ski Club members, Dave Wilcoxson, Nick Sebring, ?, Kelly Cowan, Darlene Weary, and Tom Flint pose in Norse Park. Wild activities were done by the Wilderness Club in the natural beauty of Colorado. Suppose one were given the assignment to cover a club previously very active at Northglenn High School. One would assume this to be a simple task. However, simple it was not. The 1980- 1981 Ski Club was, to say the least, a failure. Poor conditions, student apathy, and inflation all helped bury the ailing Ski Club. During this season, God had no mercy for skiers or the economy of the tourist oriented West. Colorado received a fraction of its usually plentiful snowfall. Many ski slopes were forced to postpone opening due to inadequate conditions. The lack of enthusiasm among the club members also had an adverse effect. Many people showed up for a club picture, but never attended a single meeting (hence, the questionmarks to left!). The most damaging factor, however, was the rising price of a day on the slopes. Double digit inflation caused an increase in ski rates which were already extremely costly.

Finding a Niche

Dance club, under the direction of Ms. Gifford, held two recitals. The hard work of the talented members made both recitals a success. The Rodeo club, symbolized by boots, hats, and horses, was into the Colorado spirit during the 81 school year. With the economy in questionable shape, ecology became a primary concern even among the busy Norsemen. One way for all Norsemen to conserve was through car pooling and busing.

Athletes take Pride

Lettermans, FCA, Intramural Sports. Long hours of hard work and dedication were needed in any sport, but in the end it always paid off. The Generic Norse, in almost every case, came shining through with flying colors. Sometimes just playing on the team just wasn't enough, and Norsemen joined clubs to get more involved in their favorite sports.

A USA shirt, hockey stick and sweats were all the equipment needed for this hockey player. Opponent Buddy Miller agrees. Norse Man for all Seasons

NGHS offered varieties of activities for the Generic Norseman. Power lifting strengthened both mind and body. Aviation taught the power of flight. Drama meant discipline, putting in hours, rehearsing lines, and learning dance steps. Truly the average Norse had many interests; they were "A Man for all Seasons."

Norse Write On

A woman's touch gave the 1980-81 newspaper and yearbook a unique style. Across the United States, 1980 was considered to be the "year of the lady." This was proved true at Northglenn High School when all three editors were women.

The yearbook staff of 1979-80 won a silver rating, but the editors of 1980-81 set goals for a gold. The co-editors, Debbie Canfield and Stacy Andrews, provided the staff with determination and a unique style. The new style concentrated on the average Northglenn Norseman.

Strong-willed Valerie Campbell led the newspaper through a successful 1980-1981 season. Under her guidance, the newspaper continually met deadlines and provided an interesting assortment of articles.

Volleyball's tenth victory goes over the nets. Poised to spoil Adams City's white jerseys are the powerful Norse. A quick pass by Quarterback Mark McAninch sends the Norse into enemy territory. The balance beam is gymnast Heidi Nichols' forte. Soccer threatens to score again as the team again made it to state competition. Matching strides at NG's Invitational at Webster Lake helped NG to take the meet. Norse #44 blocks as Norse carrier heads for the goal line. A gym mural highlights a Norse basketball.

Injuries!

Northglenn's Amadeo Green topped the all conference picks, thus ending the season with district championships for both CC teams. After posing for the state athletic poster and a terrific sophomore year, Deahn Hendrixson suffered injuries, leading an injured girls team that failed to retake the state championships.

Soccer Earns 13-1

Losing to Columbine High in state quarter-finals was a disappointing blow to an otherwise outstanding soccer team. Yet, Coach Razani was proud because the boys had "done as well as they could. They are really great players and good boys."

Making all-Skyline League were Roger Martinez, Rob Zimmerman, Verne Adams, Chris Telk, Tony Digiacomo, Dale Dowling, and Rick Albin.

Number seven Joe Vaeth awaits a difficult pass from a teammate. Fancy footwork on number six Verne Adams' part stifles Westy players. Driving for a goal is junior Scott McGilvrey. Strong Norse Gain 7-3

In his first year as head coach, Dominic Capra led the Northglenn Football team to a third place finish. The fact that five offensive players and five defensive were named all-conference exemplifies the overall strength Northglenn displayed. The team was riding high at the eighth week of the season. They were 7-1 and seemed destined for the playoffs. Two disappointing losses to Regis and Westminster stifled the chance of a playoff berth. But two games don't undo an entire season. The fact remained that the generic Norse were contenders.

Leading blocking for fellow senior Lanny Isham is running back John Shaw. A ground search by Northglenn's 71 won't reveal the ball. An Alameda runner is tackled by Norse defense Chris Miller and Dave O'Brien.

Record set

Girls gymnastics set more than one record in 1980 as they scored the highest team total ever in the history of NGHS with a 154.3 against Loveland. It was also the highest score in the district for the season. Losing only against Highland, they took eleventh at the Arapahoe Invitational. Earning a second in league, the team advanced to districts and placed second.

Earn First

The varsity volleyball team wasn't expected to do well. However, Coach Kitty Fowler stuck with them to the end, teaching them how to fight hard. They were undefeated with a first place in league and were the only undefeated team in the Skyline league. Some of the toughest matchest were against Brighton, who was expected to take first in District, and Marycrest. When behind fourteen to four, the team brought home a win of sixteen to fourteen. Taking their undefeated record to District, the varsity finally were defeated by Brighton and St. Mary's.

A concentrated serve is important to Kim Stuart during warmup. Milling around, the team looks for advice and encouragement. Volleyball the ball against Ranum during Districts is Kim Stuart. Start Uphill Climb

A small JV team, coached by Shawn Armour, started its season by losing three of their first four games and ended it by winning their last seven league games. The team, comprised initially of eleven sophomores and three juniors, started out physically lacking in confidence, yet they developed and persisted, but most of all, they didn't give up.

Their first year at a new school, the sophomore volleyball team showed much enthusiasm toward winning. Ken Clinton, also part of the social studies department, coached the team. Even though they won only two of their regular season games, they showed that the team would be a contender in the future.

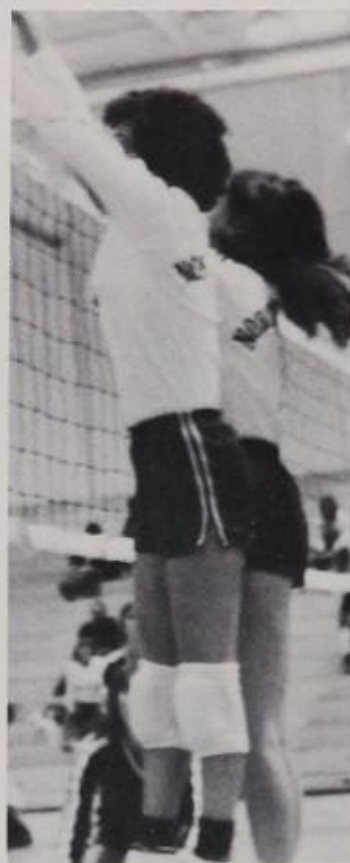

Straining to spike the ball is Trish Litz of the JV Volleyball team. Intense concentration on the ball demonstrates the determination of Sophomore Sherri Hagaman.

Win Third Title

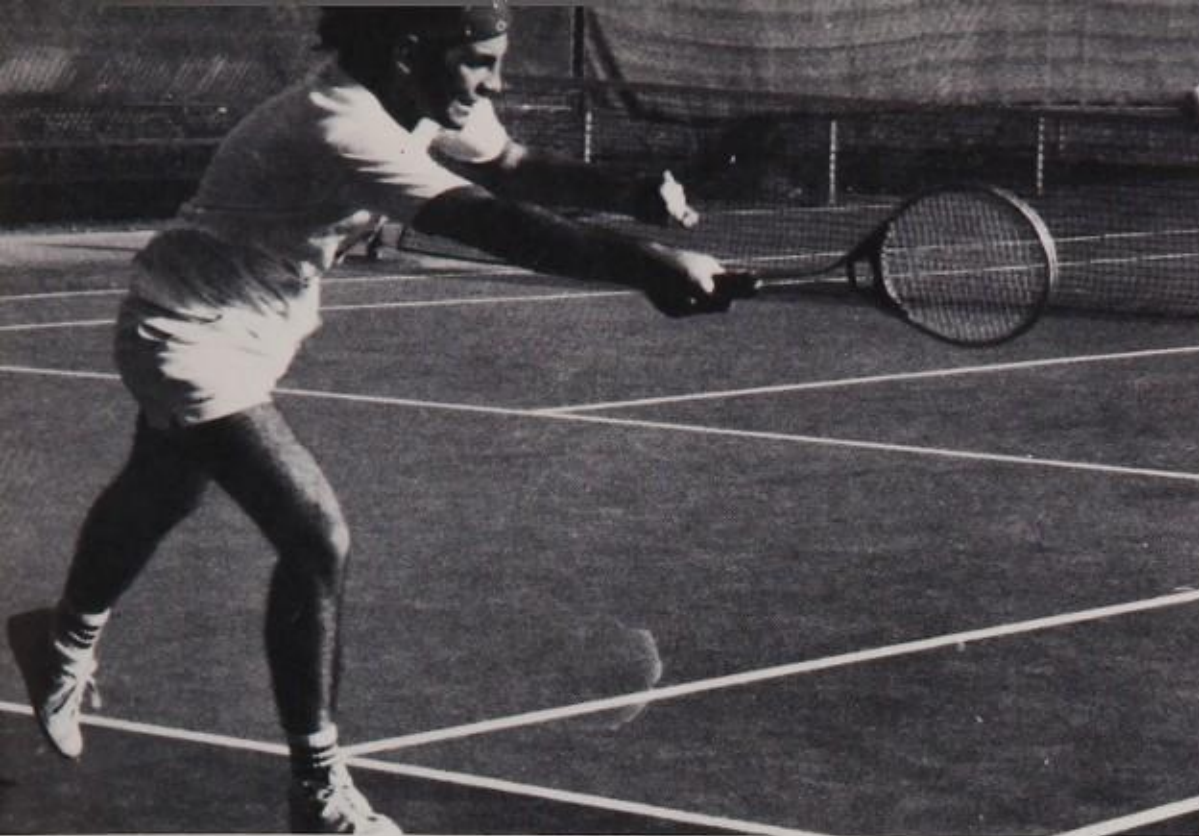

In his third year as Head Coach, Ken Ebuna led the girls swim team to a third consecutive Skyline League title and a third place finish at State. Norse swimmers Laura Strickland, Tanya Schmidt, Lisa Green, and Terri Sherick took the state title in the 400-yard freestyle relay, thus receiving all-state mention, while the team dominated all-league selections. A Northglenn swimmer made first team all-league in every event except one!

Commenting on the boy's tennis team's 9-2 record, Head Coach Dennis Geraghty said, "We did a lot better than anticipated, I wish every year we could finish 9-2."

The team's record reflected the strength they exhibited throughout the season. Especially strong were singles players Mont Williams (senior), John Sanko, and Jeff Osborn (juniors).

Norse Cagers win Playoff Berth.

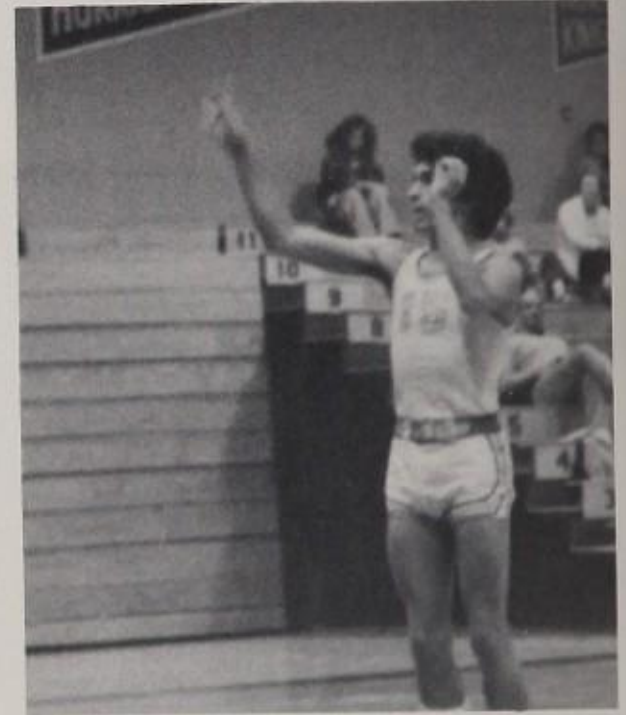

The Varsity Basketball team labored to a 10-10 record and a District 12 playoff berth. Although they suffered tough losses to Thornton and Ranum in the playoffs, the team did feature strong players; especially strong were Greg Gurss and Victor Cole. Senior Greg Gurss averaged 19 points a game and became one of the Skyline League Scoring leaders, while Victor Cole, a junior and strong hope for the future, averaged ten and was one of the leaders as well.

Dribbling through defenders is Norse cager Greg Gurss. Pre-Game concern is etched on the faces of Coach Hatch and Scott Hobson. Learning

Under Head Coach Rich Czernicki, JV rallied to a 12-6 season. The JV team, in addition to playing their current schedule, also provided strength for the Varsity team. The strength JV draws from is the Sophomore team who, under Coach Stevens, ended with a 14-3 season.

Girls enter Play-Offs

The Girls Varsity Basketball Team of 1980-1981 was a tremendous success. The team, coached by Stephen Schiell and Ken Stevens, was a source of great pride for the Norsemen. The varsity team competed in the state play-offs, but received no title. Coach Schiell attributes the team's success to group effort, rather than to individual achievements. However, Nancy Saul led the team and the district in average points scored per game. The team is hoping that next year they will have a season to top even the 1980-1981 girls basketball season. The obvious superiority of the Generic Norse?

The team entered the District Tournaments with high hopes and left with the first place title. A half dozen wrestlers from NGHS competed on the state level. The team placed tenth in state

Going Down To The Wire . . .

Westminster seemed to be the Northglenn Varsity Baseball team's biggest opponent in the race for the American Division title. It was a long season of tight spots and seemingly impossible games. The NG team showed steady improvement all year as individual players ceased to "exist" and were fused into one team with a common goal. When it came down to the wire, Mullin was the team to beat, and the Norsemen were forced to give in to defeat.

Northglenn's JV baseball team ended the year 13 and 3. A loss to Westminster early in the season provoked Northglenn to win the second time they met. Each time Regis and Northglenn met, Northglenn suffered defeat, but Northglenn was not discouraged. They went on to win every game they played. Coach Reffel led the team and was pleased and proud with the season's turnout.

The 1981 school year was one of mixed emotions for the sophomore baseball team, led by Coach Rockne. In double-headers, the mighty Norse beat many rivals, but Thornton and Adams City bit the dust the hardest. The Norse ended the year 8-4.

The Pride of Ebuna . . .

The 1980-81 school year was not a good year for the Boy's Swim team, but one could never tell by the spirit of those fine young men. The team came in 7th in Skyline League Relays and 6th in the Skyline League championships. The State Qualifiers were Pat Sebring, Howard Wong, and Burt Nelman.

Facial Expression shows that Lisa Marquez is confident of getting the ball. Under the lights is All American soccer player Julie Brozovich. A difficult position must be held in order for Sue Moore to save the ball. With the coaching of Ata Razani, Carrie Troxel dribbles the ball. The saving effort is shown by Terri DiGiacomo. Lose State Title

Earn 15-1

A winning team! That is what the Northglenn High School Girls Varsity Soccer team was. The team was 15-0 until the quarter finals in the play-offs. Losing 0-1 to Arvada West was disappointing to the defending state champs of 80. Julie Brozoylch, Lisa Marquez, Wendy Joyce, and Dani Denight all added a special touch to the team's victories as well as tried their best to win the play-offs and continue on to state.

A fork in the mouth proves that Principal McCulloch takes time out from his busy schedule to be a human being. A sprinkle a day keeps the frizzles away, says Tammy Romero to Coach Evans on Teacher Appreciation Day. Breakfast for the teachers is SPEAK's way of showing appreciation. How many does this one make? Seems to be what the generic Norse ask each other during one of the many fire drills of NGHS. Faculty Dress-up Day reveals a crowd of Norse's finest generics. "Hey good looking, what'cha got cooking?" Senior Terrie Egging prepares for Teacher Appreciation Day.

This division contains both students and teachers as they exemplify the generic

These Norsemen are wholesome but definitely not your common garden variety!

Presenting . . .

The Class of '81

Twelve years of accomplishments proved the 1981 seniors were an outstanding class. As clear as black and white (pardon the generic pun), the class of '81 was Committed to Excellence.

For the third year, the faculty and seniors nominated and subsequently elected twenty outstanding members of the class based on their achievement in academics, community services, and/or athletics. These twenty seniors are featured on the following pages as winners of the 1981 Nordic Saga Commitment to Excellence Awards. Kept secret until the Honors Assembly in May, the outstanding seniors were then given special recognition.

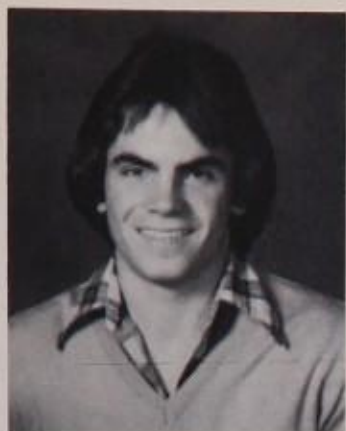

The school year, the seniors' formal education (except for those who furthered their education and an increasing percentage did), ended with graduation at District 12 Stadium.

And therein lies another story! After years of having graduation at DU Stadium, graduation was proposed to be at CU in Boulder. Only at the end of January did the School Board decide that NGHS should hold its ceremonies at the District 12 Stadium, just like Thornton High started to in 1980. This decision was quite controversial and long-debated.

But the Iranian Hostage Crisis, the gas shortage, and inflation began to hit the school district pocketbook and the board decided to save fuel and utilize their own facilities.

However, the date was also a problem and the seniors were given the privilege of voting and the class decided on May 31.

Meet The Big E's!

Always spirited, Terrie Egging had proven her COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE through leadership and involvement. She lettered in track and became co-captain of the team (12). After elections to attendant her junior and sophomore years, Terrie was crowned Homecoming Queen for 80. A leader of spirit, she lettered as a varsity cheerleader and was elected Head Girl of SPEAK. Terrie maintained a GPA of over a 4.0 and was a member of NHS.

One of the Norse leaders, Bob Engstrom twice received a varsity letter in both football and wrestling. He was a member of the JV District Championship Wrestling team his sophomore year. Bob was Secretary (11) and President (12) of the Letterman's club and Headboy his senior year.

Ron Gerbrandt

Art was also represented in the COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE awards by Ron Gerbrandt. Weight room and large gym murals are permanent reminders of his artistic ability. The Denver Post awarded him a first place in the 1980 Christmas Contest. He was also a division winner in the State Scholastic Art Contest. A Junior Escort, Ron was also in Godspell. These honors, plus involvement in SPEAK, earned him an Elk Student of the Month award. One of the top ten seniors, Ron's GPA was over 4.0.

Excellence is . . .

Scott Nimerfroh wrestled his way into a COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE award by capturing several wrestling tournaments. He lettered all three years of high school and was elected captain of the wrestling team in 1980.

COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE was reflected in JOHN SHAW's involvement in organizations that require dedication. A member of the Northglenn Marching Band for three years, he took great pride in his involvement in the award winning percussion line. John was also an avid sportsman, lettering in football and baseball as well as coaching a little league team to a league championship. In addition, John maintained a 3.75 GPA, even while working at King Soopers!

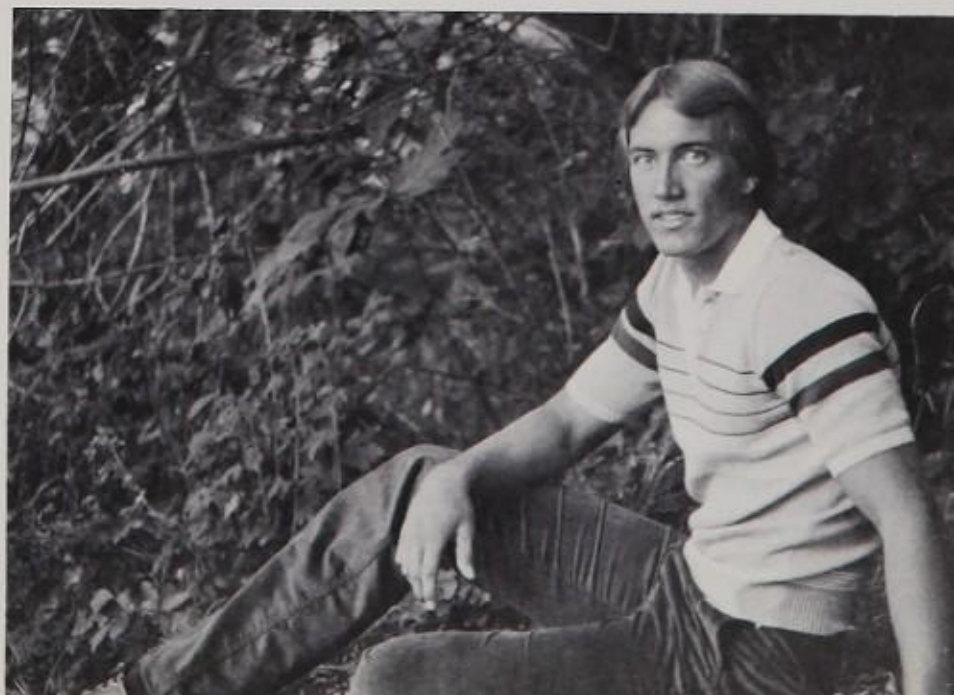

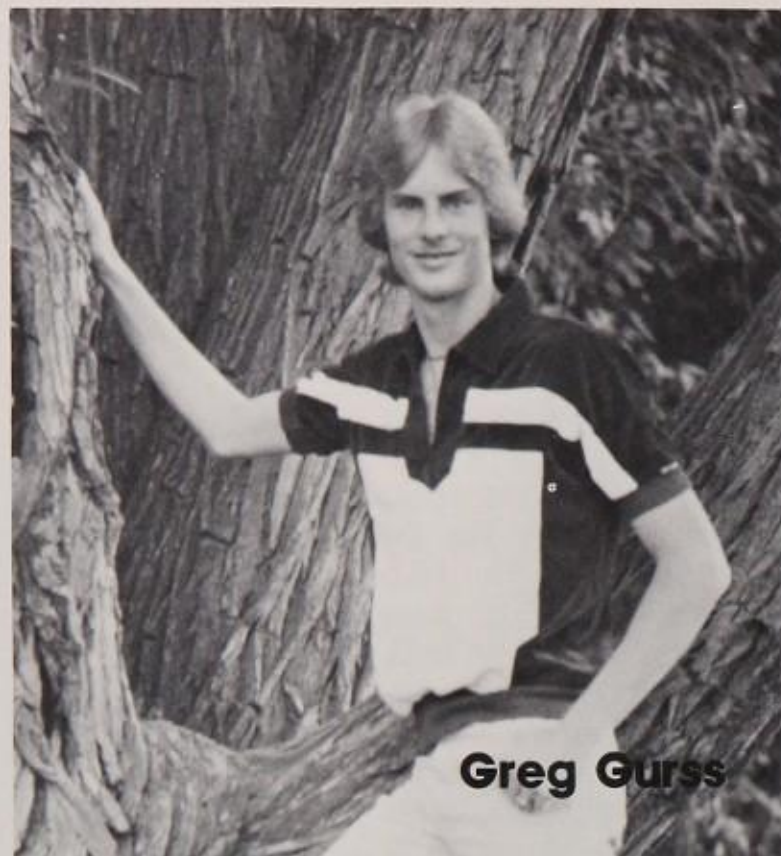

John Shaw

Commitment To Excellence

Curtis Egan

A COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE award for CURTIS EGAN was not to be kicked around! An All-Conference kicker both his junior and senior year, he was also State Honorable Mention Kicker both years. Lettering four times, Curtis also had a 3.5 GPA.

Greg Gurss

Greg Gurss was an outstanding athlete, and lettered three times. He was a member of the basketball team every year and captain his senior year. He was a member of Letterman's Club both 11 and 12. Greg was also a member of NHS and maintained a 3.8 GPA. Greg was truly a student COMMITTED TO EXCELLENCE.

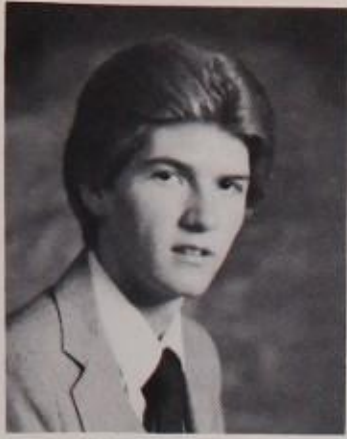

Commitment is

A runner at heart, Dawn Minnich was a two year member of the Varsity team. She lettered three times and in her junior year was a member of the State Champion CC team and received an Honorable Mention All-State CC as well as Most Improved Runner. Other organizations Dawn sought in her COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE were SPEAK, NHS, FCA, and Campus Life.

Linnea Carlson

Honors kept pouring in for Linnea Carlson in her senior year, reflecting her COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE. Who's Who Among High School Students, Masonic Outstanding Junior, and an NHS membership all reflect her 3.93 GPA and activities. She was elected Student Body President (12). Track, basketball, and volleyball provided a physical outlet, especially in volleyball, where she was chosen All-Conference for the All-State Game.

Among the best ...

Jeff Simmons had a mixed bag of COMMITMENTS TO EXCELLENCE. He was SPEAK workshop chairman, a member of the Skyline League, teenager of the month, and a student in the Gifted and Talented Program. Jeff was in gymnastics throughout his high school career, lettering three times and becoming captain of the team in his senior year.

Jeff Simmons

Mark McAninch

Mark McAninch's COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE was shown through his athletic prowess. Mark was in baseball, basketball, and football during his entire high school career, becoming captain of the football team in his senior year. Mark was also a junior attendant at Homecoming and was elected Homecoming King his senior year.

They Excelled!

The honor roll was the field in which Terri Hoeller proved her intellectual COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE. Terri was on the honor roll all three years of her high school career. However, her athletic abilities were not to be ignored. She helped gymnastics place in districts and was active in both cheerleading and ski club.

John Baker

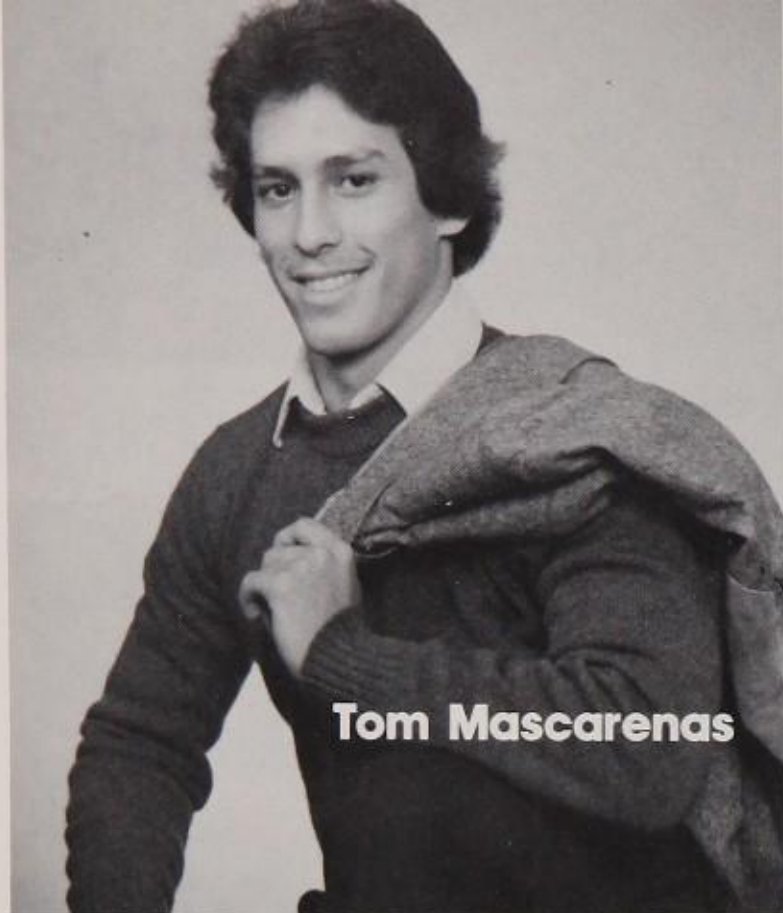

Graduating from varsity soccer halfback his sophomore year to goalie in his junior and senior year, JOHN BAKER earned a letter each year. He was also team captain his junior and senior years. Three years of membership in the Colorado Whitewater Club rounded out his COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE.

2 of the Top 20

Soccer and FBLA helped STEVE OLGUIN achieve his COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE. Steve lettered in soccer his junior and senior year. His FBLA accomplishments included attending FBLA's state conference and being elected vice-president. Steve was also involved in Campus Life and SPEAK throughout his sophomore and junior years.

Steve Olguin

Tom Mascarenas

Athletics and academics were a winning combination for TOM MASCARENAS. A basketball player for one year and a baseball player for three, he also played football for three years. He lettered twice, earned honorable mention for All-Conference his senior year, and membership in Letterman's club. A GPA of 3.4 earned Tom admittance to NHS. His goal of a major in engineering at CSU also revealed his COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE.

Two of the Best!

High academics and government leadership highlighted Leslie Kimball's COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE. Gymnastics, a church youth group, and 4 out-of-school musicals busied Leslie as a sophomore. She continued these but added student government, tutoring, Gifted and Talented, Junior Escort, summer camp, and NHS director her junior year. Finally, rounding out her senior year with Skyline League Council and a Class Presidency, a GPA over 4.0 put her near the top of her class. Need more be said about why she was elected as one COMMITTED TO EXCELLENCE?

Tammi Hannaway's COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE was truly presidential. She was president of both the Varsity and Letterman's club, and vice-pres. of the senior class. Tammi was also involved in Ski Club, Campus Life, and FCA. Her athletic commitments included track and cross-country, spearheading the cross-country team to the state championship her junior year.

... Two Winners!

In football, DAVID WALKER moved up to varsity as a junior and earned 1980 Leading Rusher in Skyline League and All-Conference 1980 after he rushed 1200 yards! The 79-80 wrestling season saw him go past All-Regional honors to qualify for State and team captain in 80-81. He wasn't "just a jock" — he earned over a 3.07 GPA for his COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE!

Cheryl Heriford

CHERYL HERIFORD'S COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE was predictable even as a sophomore when she joined SPEAK, volleyball, basketball, and ski club, culminating with an Outstanding High School Student award. Her senior year, Cheryl had a 3.8 GPA and was in the top forty and accepted into NHS. She continued her student government activities, was elected vice-president of SPEAK, attended the student council workshop, and was elected Teenager of the Month.

Involvement in organizations was the key to CHERYL CHARTIER'S COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE. She has been FBLA's historian, a secretary of COE, chairman of Homecoming Committee, and Club Editor of the Nordic Saga. In addition, Cheryl was in SPEAK, NHS, Ski club, and the Youth Conservation Corps.

Others busy too

While many seniors were busily earning one of the twenty Commitment to Excellence Awards, the rest of the seniors were not just wasting their time. Classes had to be met and, even more important, the extracurricular activities had to be attended to! Well, the seniors felt that way until they suffered defeat at the hands of the juniors at Homecoming.

Typing classes are even more of a favorite class since College Prep Typing is offered. Senior Powderpuff players listen intently to Coach Cluck.

Generic Graduates are Grrreat!

The year of 1981 has finally arrived and seniors gladly accepted the honors of graduation. The '81 seniors set sights on the types of advancement in education, money, and romance. As the motto states, "Follow Your Dreams" was the next step to achieving their goals!

Plaid and lace are "in" for Homecoming senior attendants Ron Rieken and Lori Lanford. Norlin Library at CU is a famous trip for those in AP English and CP Comp at Northglenn High. A striking pose by senior officer Debbie Schneider reveals her usual "class." At the ledge Janice Dow and Tim Shepard talk after passing periods. Wearing a T-shirt that says it all is Senior Karen Faverio. A sly wink from senior Steve Olquin makes one wonder what he is up to! Number 70 does not mean anything less than the number one Head boy Bob Engstrom. Holding the mike at the pep assembly is Terrie Egging, Head Girl. All smiles are senior Terrie Egging and Mark McAnich, Homecoming King and Queen.

The class of 82 was one that showed many great qualities in sports, academics, and overall school spirit. Their "Desire to achieve" was displayed throughout the year in each activity or event in which they performed. With the outstanding qualities the juniors uphold, they look forward to showing great leadership as a senior class in 81-82.

No frills overalls were typical garb for juniors Terese Brozovich and Colleen Sibley. Mobs after an assembly are always a familiar sight.

Desire to Achieve is Junior Motto

When the juniors elected their class motto back in their sophomore year, no one really gave it much thought. Yet, as juniors many did not know if they really liked it. It did, however, fit in with the school motto of Commitment to Excellence. Since the junior class had always been a class that excelled, students soon came to realize that they did desire to achieve and that the motto was not only a good one, but a great one!

Posing For Homecoming Royalty Pictures are Junior Attendants Scott Orrino and Dawnell Turner. Halloween Assembly brings out the best of all generic juniors.

Juniors at work?

Hanging around NGHS was a common pastime for many. Of course, even hard-working juniors took time out. After all, enjoying leisure time is also a sign of wisdom!

Getting to know . . .

Getting to know the ropes of surviving at NGHS is a scary thing - especially to a sophomore. Three different schedules and bells, three lunch hours, different assemblies, and best of all, registration all leave one numb at first. But they survived . . . because they were of "superior stock." After all, they were generic Norse!

Back to classes after the pep assembly are Kim Sanderson and Carolyn Kammer. "But I wanted to take Gorcel" says a frustrated Tony Bruno to Donny Pettit and Dennis Billig at registration.

The key . . .

"The key to the future" was chosen as the class motto by the class of 1983. And learning the keys to survival is just what they did at NGHS.

Asleep on the bus are Erik Smith and Debbie Heriford. The Northglenn High sign was the scene for the picture of sophomore class officers Vice-president Debbie Heriford, President Kent Carlson, and treasure Kristi Brown. At the ledge stand sophomores Paul Lower, Bobby Higginbottom, and Kelli Noah.

Never "done"

An administrator's work was never done, or so it seemed. Administrators could always be found walking the hallways, much to the dismay of many students. They supervised every extra-curricular activity-almost one every night.

But that was the frosting on the cake. The nitty-gritty of keeping the academic process going was the bulk of their jobs. New courses, registration ... to put it all in a nutshell, nothing could have been done without them.

Principal George McCulloch has been at the helm two years and has been instrumental in helping NGHS achieve its potential.

Registration and exasperation often became synonyms, as Nancy Roberts and Kent Talmage-Bowers soon discover from Principal George McCulloch. Mrs. Roberts was a new English Department Chairperson, while Mr. Talmage-Bowers had just returned from his sabbatical to re-assume his co-chairmanship.

Dean of Students
Linda Jepsen

Registrar
Marlene Grueber

As Athletic Director, Bob Nunnery's job is more than just organizing and supervising games. He must see to discipline and attendance, transportation to games, hiring coaches, buying athletic equipment, making sure athletic events comply to all rules and regulations, checking on the eligibility of students for athletics, and coordinating all busing and transportation for the school in general. Now see what we mean about a generic Norsemen being better than just generic!

Taking a break at registration is Lou Carlato, who had to cope with all special requests. He also supervised all appeals, counselors and the attendance policy.

Real People?

Are faculty really people? Is there life after 3:15? True! Yes! Positively! All of the above!

Why else would one find Bruce Allen riding bike (while reading Shakespeare)? Or Kent Talmadge-Bowers doing zinc etchings and presenting shows under the name of Prints Charming (only an English teacher would come up with such an original pun!).

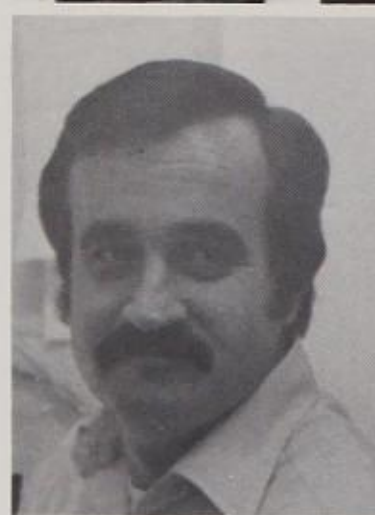

After school found Kent Cluck leading fellow faculty members in physical exercises or running a rafting business.

Paula Reichert created beautiful Christmas wreaths and centerpieces and sold them at the District Twelve Christmas Fair held every year in December at the Ad. Building. Librarian Anne Jefferies even holds crafts fairs at her home at Christmas.

Mrs. B., as AV person Joanne Bagstad is fondly called, walked her daily two miles while Wills, McCarthy, and Murphy took community classes.

John Henshaw used his carpentry skills on his new Boulder home and Shawn Armour rode his ten speed to school — another attempt at cleaning up the polluted air of Metro Denver and coping with the gas shortage.

But human they definitely were!!!!!!

The floor helps the new Chairman of the new Fine Arts Department Larry Smith help a student while department members Burdeaux and White wonder at his antics and Clint Walker passes out his art class cards.

A Great Buy

Like all of the generic Norsemen, the faculty of NGHS are one real bargain. Generic teachers are involved and caring. They offer a completely balanced academic diet to all thrifty students. The conscientious Norseman knows he will get more from a generic NGHS teacher than he may get from the run of the mill school brand.

A parallel may be found between a generic faculty and the elders of the Viking clan. The older Vikings would teach the young how to carry out successful raids in order to gain possession of foods necessary to sustain life. Although raids are no longer carried out, the fight for survival is not gone. The generic teacher aids the present Norsemen in discovering his new weapons for survival: knowledge, skill, and application of the former.

The generic Norse faculty have superseded all expectations - resulting in the superior race of the new GENERIC NORSE.

School Climate

to be improved

The school climate committee formed subcommittees to implement the many ideas for achieving the objectives of their goals. To establish an overall school atmosphere of high expectations in a positive school climate, a bulletin board to congratulate five students each month for accomplishing high expectations is now used. They are also in the process of making honor roll students more visible. All of the students' accomplishments will be publicized in various papers around the community. To emphasize the importance of regular attendance, a subcommittee is working towards a positive appeal for attendance. Included in this is positive modeling, such as publication of a computer run of perfect attendance! To develop and implement procedures for improving communication within the school as well as with the home, another subcommittee is planning a Northglenn Street Fair for September. To encourage and support student involvement in the activity and academic programs and to provide recognition for that, a subcommittee is involved in a variety of school activities. These include a new student orientation, Ten Speed and Brown Shoes, Dance-a-thon, sophomore orientation, and a student council retreat.

Stacks of clutter means the English Department is really working on their In-service Day, according to Virginia Leslie, Marty Gorce, D'Anne Sanko, George Hudson, and Marie Gay.

New Apple Computers

Lab Begins

Northglenn High School has its long awaited Math Lab. This is a dream come true for everyone involved. Thanks to Principal George McCulloch, the Math Department will be implementing the use of four Apple II micro-computers during the second semester. In the beginning stages, these computers will be used mainly in the Applying Math Skills and Basic Math classes, as well as for class record keeping purposes. The Apple II computers will eventually become part of a total Math Lab concept where students in any course (not only math courses) will be able to get assistance on problem areas as well as enrichment programs.

Teacher Of The Year

LeMieux Wins

Mr. LeMieux won the honor of Teacher of the Year for Northglenn High. Mr. LeMieux has been teaching in the district for 22 years and has been at Northglenn since 67. Teachers, administrators, and some students voted for the award.

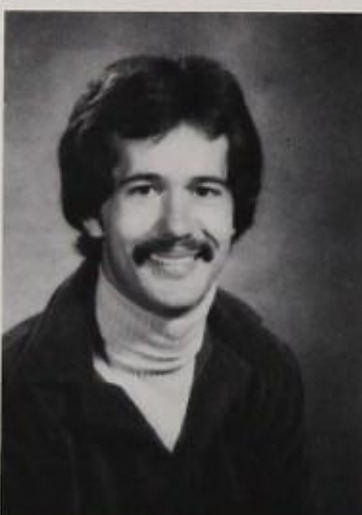

When asked how he felt about the award, LeMieux replied, "Honors are great. It doesn't mean you should stop working."

LeMieux said, "I have a long way to go yet. When I feel I have accomplished everything, I will retire."

He said he was very happy to receive the honor from the staff in the school. LeMieux went on to say, "The school district, administration, students and parents make a person willing to make the commitment to be a teacher."

In his spare time, Mr. LeMieux likes to spend time with his family. He has seven children and three grandchildren. He also enjoys gardening, working on cars, making jewelry, photography, and most of all, working with people.

Mr. LeMieux then went on to be selected to receive an Honorable Mention Certificate in the 1981 Colorado Teacher of the Year Program.

Helping In The Little Ways . . .

Academics can and are the main focus of any high school, but they do not function without the auxillary services. The librarians are constantly updating materials, the nurse healing wounds, and the counselors, well, even the mighty Generic Norse need guidance once in a while. These people kept the system in mint condition.

Guidance from Don Blaes helps Holly Thacker decide what class to take.

Registration meant the counselors helped at the Information center. A pretty table was set for all teachers at Teacher Appreciation Day.

Norse on the Move

The generic Norse were traveling people. They could be found everywhere. Norsemen participated in Norse activities and went to all kinds of places to excel in their interests and represent Northglenn High School. There were many activities that had been prominent. The NGHS Marching Band went to St. Louis to compete against other bands in the spring and SPEAK took time out to participate at a retreat in Estes Park during the fall. The generic Norse were not only active in school, but also took part in events outside of school.

Cross Country runner Mary Hull takes a great lead at a meet. Campus Life leader Sandy Hrozencik shows she can have fun at NGHS too.

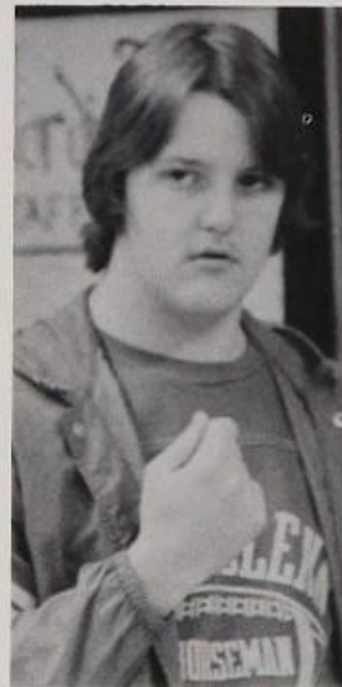

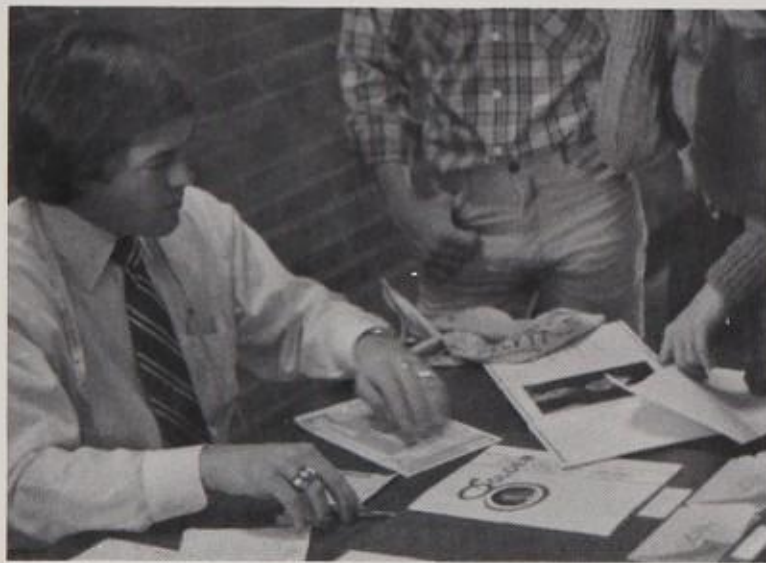

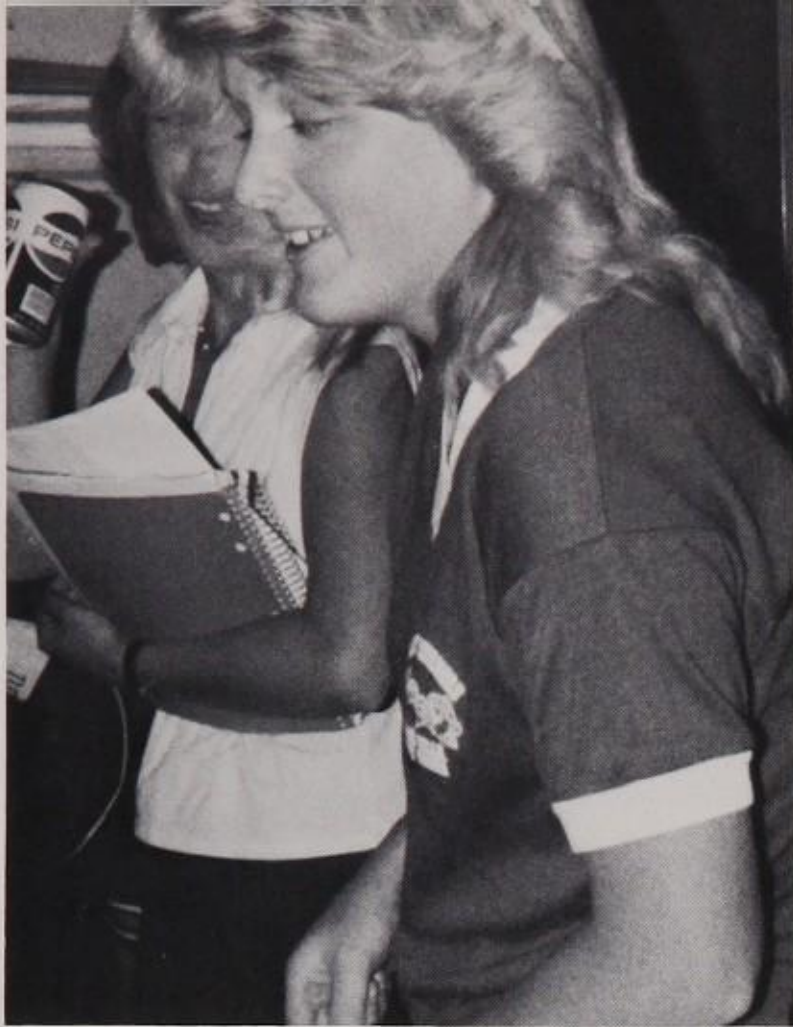

Clowning around and having a good time are members Melssa Wells, Stacey Andrews, James Wiebner, Sandy Hrozencik, Bill Selby, Robin Wells, Shelly Nott, Scott Mack, Beth Mullins, and Jack Fies from Campus Life. A look of caution is demonstrated by senior Marla Knapp. Crowded bleachers were typical at athletic pep assemblies.

Wide eyed is how Robin Wells views the food at NGHS. Pepsi in the halls is not usually allowed at NGHS! Hiding in corners is a past time Sherri Hatch indulges in whenever there is a camera. Business as usual, the ring man visits the school twice a year to sell and deliver class rings. Always busy, Dave Selman is one of the active members of the foreign exchange club, yearbook, and SPEAK. Talking by the lockers isn't an unusual activity for Jaymie Whatley and JoAnna Serrano. Smiles and Candy are on Kim Davis, Beth Mullins, and Katie Uland's minds at a Campus Life Meeting. Communication is Virginia Leslie's specialty as she heads the Interpersonal Relations class. Spirited as any other Norse are members of the faculty Bruce Allen, Karen Littlefield, Stephanie MacCarter, Ken Ebuna, and Shaun Armour. Gathered about the Junior Homecoming float are many loyal Norse. Wedding pictures are one part of the mock weddings held each year by the Contemporary Living classes. Tension is another part of life in high school as another Norse feels "up against the wall."

Tongue-in-cheek?

One of the best things about being a Norseman is the knowledge that one is "above average." Now, that might be said tongue-in-cheek, but then the truth is that more than once the expression has been proven a truism! Whether one wants to believe it or not, one still has to contend with the GENERIC NORSE!

In the 1980-81 year the Northglenn Norse joined the rest of the nation in a generic concern about the economy and ecology of the nation. More students were working and more faculty members were riding the bus or their bicycles. The graduation was moved from CU to District 12 Stadium to save gasoline.

President Reagan asked America to tighten belts and pull together and so began a movement from the Me Generation to the We Generation. In keeping with that spirit and pride of better than average, the Norse took the economy and the cuts in stride. The Generic Norse could

Weather All Seasons

Town meetings for the students at Northglenn are one way in which the Norse began to work together in 1981. Norse cooks are dedicated as any and met the challenge of preparing nutritional meals on a budget. "Not responsible" ... Inflation hits everyone and the accident prone are no exception. Generic pop, sugar-free, without costly luxuries, is one way to save a few pennies in the field of the Generic Norse. Tops in cheerleading are Terrie Egging and Nancy Mathieu, who were the only seniors to weather the entire 80-81 year. Grapefruit sales by the choir provides the money for dedicated singers like Diane Dittbrenner to continue. Lunch lines are periodically visited by faculty members affluent enough to keep up with the rising cost of even a school lunch. Disgusted looks are common among students who can remember the 35 cent lunch and three cent milk, which they haven't seen in a few years. Up against the wall is a common feeling for students and Russ Bridgewater and Kevin McIlree are no exceptions.

A Generic box may seem trivial, but it is less confusing than a brand name. Generic grades posted by numbers reflects increasing depersonalization. Blind to the problems of the handicapped, students (Bill Proksch and Tammy Rodriguez) tried experiments to gain insight. Crowded tables in the lunchroom are noticeable even in the early lunch hour. Parking lot remains full even though few can afford gas.

Muddling through

The population was growing, and it sometimes became difficult to retain an identity. Feelings of isolation, confusion and a blind search for something better were reflected everywhere. The Norsemen continued to muddle through, however, often times with some interesting results.

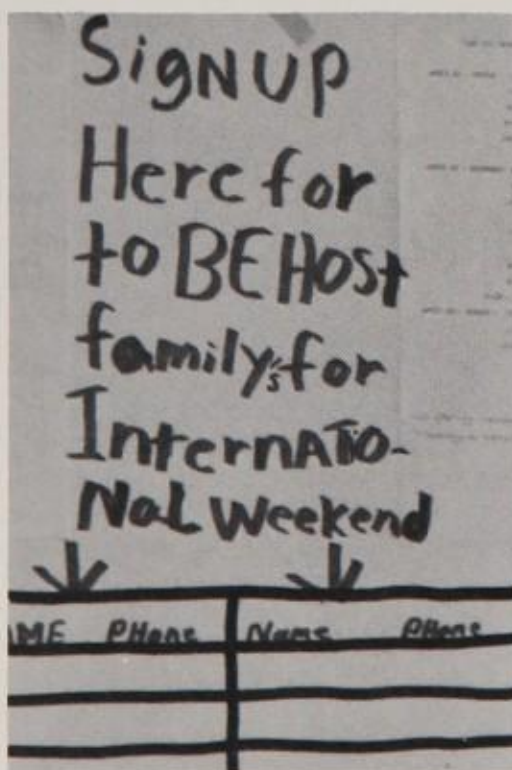

Unmatched shoes "Well I was tired and in a hurry ..." says Anne Jeffries. A quiet grassy spot to be alone in is rare in a crowded world, but R.H. Hinkson found one. Well read in trivial matters is Mr. Gathman whose trivia team participated in the Trivia Bowl at C.U. Confusion during study is common for American students and the foreign students, like Esmeralda Lozano, are susceptible as well.

Better than Average

Part of being in the Norse spirit was maintaining pride in accomplishment and achievement. Nordic students were described by one teacher as "inhabitants" of a positive island in a world of stress." They accomplished a great deal on their island. Many Norsemen took interest in foreign affairs, community service, and in school related achievements. Recognized everywhere as a quality group, awards multiplied, honors were consistently bestowed, and good feelings could be found everywhere.

Enjoying the sunshine is better than classes! Advanced Fibers helped Fem Romero weave a masterpiece. The new Congratulations Board spotlighted excelling students.

Sign up board by the Exchange Students tells all. Karen Welch admires Scott Dunn's and Michelle Rivera's State DECA trophies.

A bulletin board for perfect attendance was the idea of Dean, Linda Jepsen, also head of the school climate committee. A "wonderful assistant" in the media center, according to Anne Dittmon, is Jill Feuerborn. Crowds of students show their appreciation of other cultures at the foreign language fair in March. Milling around during fire drills is common for Norse students.

"The party's over" symbolizes the Brazillans departure as well as the end of Counselor Barb Wills stay at NG. Coffee-caused frayed nerves pushed decaffeinated into the limelight, as America took one more step toward coping with the future and toward accepting generic products. Waiting for the end, in the melee of final exams, wild parties, and awards assemblies, was a long process.

Well, this is it.

The end of a generic yearbook. Hopefully, the reader now knows the truth: 1981 was a year of facing reality. But how can one ignore reality when it just slaps one in the face? No doubt, the year was a pivotal one in history.

And pivotal at Northglenn High as well. A re-direction and re-commitment to high values was made by individuals, clubs, departments, teams.

Even the yearbook staff changed. Faced with budget cuts and personal problems, they too rose to the occasion, produced within the budget, and learned to accept one another.

And personally, it was pivotal too. And only a very special yearbook staff could have put up with their advisor. Perhaps that is what a GENERIC NORSE is all about. Doing one's best no matter what. What a pleasure and honor to be among the very best: the Northglenn Norse.
